RIDERS PROTEST . . .

Otto Meets Cyclists On Steps Of Capitol

By BOB GUENTHER
Star Staff Writer

Representatives of a group of 75 motorcyclists protesting the state's new helmet law which goes into effect Friday met Wednesday with Norman Otto, Gov. J. James Exon's administrative aide.

Afterwards, the motorcyclists who came from as far as Hastings decided a court case would be their best method of getting the law changed, since there was little the governor could do to change the law.

Otto told them nothing could be done by anyone at this point.

"You should've lobbied the senators when the Legislature was in session. There's nothing the Governor or I can do about it now," he said.

Says It Discriminates

Pratt Calmes of Bellevue, president of the Nebraska Motorcyclists for Freedom, said the law was unconstitutional and discriminatory.

"Helmets should be a matter left up to the individual. I don't know of one cyclist who's in favor of it. Why don't they make automobile drivers buckle their seat belts?" Calmes said.

The crowd of sympathizers which assembled with their cycles on the north steps of the Capitol ranged in age from late teens to 65 and in occupations from student to businessman.

One businessman from Omaha voiced his dissatisfaction with the Legislature.

"The men that made that law probably have never been on a cycle in their life. Why didn't they ask the motorcyclists how we feel about helmets?"

Cut Off Hearing

"Anyone who has ridden a cycle sure wouldn't want to wear one. A helmet cuts off your peripheral vision and your hearing. That's a safety hazard," he said.

Calmes said if they have to, they will wear helmets Friday when the law goes into effect. Failure to do so could merit a fine of $10 to $100.

Otto told the representatives there was "no point" in trying to see the governor and that if they want the helmet law changed they should rally public opinion to their side.

Afterwards outside the Capitol, the crowd expressed contempt for a Legislature "which is supposedly reflecting the views of their constituents — at least the rich ones."

Some felt the helmet law was the first step on the road to eventually outlawing motorcycles completely.

Most Effective Approach

After an informal discussion, Neil Bailey of Lincoln suggested the most effective immediate approach to the problem would be to test the law in court. Iowa's helmet law was recently thrown out on constitutional grounds.

A collection was then taken to help Jerry Biskup, a Lincoln motorcycle dealer, challenge the law in district court. About $30 was collected.

"It could cost me $8,000. but I'll go all the way to the state Supreme Court with it," Biskup said.

Police called the crowd orderly and peaceful.

Lincolnite's Tax Bill May Go Up

Lincolnites are expected to pay a property tax bill of $98.13 per $1,000 assessed valuation, an increase of 5.4% over the 1970-71 levy, according to levies set or projected. (Story on Page 13).

CAR-TRUCK CRASH KILLS MOTHER AND TWINS

Mrs. Armilda H. Box, 48, and her twin sons, Randy and Ronnie, 11, of Corvallis, Ore., were killed when their car failed to stop for a stop sign and was struck by a log truck, the sheriff's office reported. Their car is shown crumpled underneath the truck on its side.

Many Teachers Will Get Raise

Washington (AP) — A little-noted ruling by the Cost of Living Council has opened the way for most school teachers to receive salary increases during President Nixon's 90-day freeze on wages and prices.

The National Education Association said the ruling affects 80% of the nation's 2.1 million teachers.

Under the ruling issued Tuesday, teachers who are eligible for payment on a 12-month contract basis but who will begin work this fall on a 10-month basis may be paid salary increases if the contract provided them prior to the Aug. 15 freeze.

A spokesman for the Office of Emergency Preparedness said the ruling applies to school systems with 12-month contracts under which salary increases were contracted for prior to the freeze.

"It's just a matter of equity," said Lou Neeb, special assistant to OEP director George Lincoln.

He said the government could provide no estimate of the number of teachers that would get their salary raises nationwide.

He said he had heard estimates ranging from 75 to 90 per cent.

The government would not comment on specific situations, including the controversy involving pay raises for teachers and public employes in Texas.

The theory behind the ruling, officials said, is that some teachers working on a 12-month basis would get their salary increases while working in summer school, while those who began work in the fall on a 10-month basis might be denied their salary hikes if the ruling had not been issued.

The Cost of living Council said a teacher does not have to be physically at work prior to the freeze in order to receive a salary hike, as long as a 12-month contract system containing pay raises for teachers existed prior to the freeze.

Asked whether the ruling would cover most of the nation's teachers, a spokesman for the Office of Emergency Preparedness said, "That's the way I read it."

The ruling applies to so-called master contracts in a number of the nation's school districts that provide salary payments on a 12-month basis.

The OEP spokesman said the key to whether teachers get a pay raise is if they are "eligible for work on a 12-month basis" even though they actually work ten months beginning this fall. He said the word "eligible" may be a matter for legal interpretation.

On the basis of the Council's decision, the Teachers' Association of Montgomery County, Md., advised its teachers Wednesday that they would get their salary increases this fall. Last week, teachers were told they would not get their raises.

The Cost of Living Council, created by the President to help administer the freeze, issued this ruling in its fifth question-and-answer release.

Q. Are teachers who were eligible to be paid over a 12-month period but in fact are being paid over a ten-month period eligible for a pay raise which was in effect in the school district before Aug. 15?

A. Yes, as previously answered in q & a No. 1.

The first question-and-answer decisions issued last week by the Council carried this exchange:

Q. Will increases in the salaries of teachers be allowed?

A. If the contract period started before Aug. 15, the salary increase may be granted. If the contract period starts after Aug. 15, the increase is not allowed.

Stock Market Merger Seen

. . . TO AID INVESTORS

Washington (UPI) — The Securities and Exchange Commission Wednesday announced plans to investigate possible integration of all stock exchanges into a single national stock market system and other reforms to protect the 100 million American stockholders.

SEC Chairman William J. Casey said broad public hearings will open here Oct. 12 into "what changes are needed." A SEC source characterized the hearings, expected to last weeks and possibly months, as "possibly the most significant ever held by the SEC."

The hearings will consider sweeping changes proposed in a five-month study conducted by William McChesney Martin, the former chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, and a former president of the New York Stock Exchange.

The Martin report calls for integration of the New York, American and regional stock exchanges into one national securities market.

Going beyond the Martin study, Casey said the hearings will consider whether huge financial institutions which hold billions of dollars worth of stock — such as mutual funds, pension funds and insurance companies — should be granted the advantages of membership in the stock exchanges. Martin rejected that proposal.

The world's largest mutual fund operator, Investor Diversified Services, has applied for membership on the New York Exchange, threatening a suit if its application is denied.

Casey said recommendations for legislation may grow out of the SEC study, which will be held either by the commission itself or by an examiner appointed by its members.

Casey said reforms are needed because some of the most critical problems in the industry are being resolved "not as a duly deliberated matter of broad public policy, but as an expedient to effect short run savings or to settle or to avoid private lawsuits."

He said the commission has an obligation "to maintain a market in which some 30 million individual shareholders are protected and can have confidence, which will protect and establish fair values for the pension, insurance and mutual funds interests of another 70 million Americans, which will contribute to the economic progress of 207 million Americans and which will attract capital from other parts of the world."

In addition to studying a possible integration of stock exchanges and membership for large institutions, Casey said the hearing will consider the need for additional disclosure of information on prices, volume and quotations in all markets through a composite tape or otherwise as well as other significant questions.

Martin, in his report, proposed:

—Elimination of the paper stock certificate, presumably through computerization of ownership records. This would solve the growing problem of certificate thefts.

—Greater use of electronic equipment so as to eventually eliminate the familiar paper cluttered trading floor.

—Development of a ticker tape which would report on transactions on all stock exchanges.

—Immunity from antitrust prosecutions to the stock exchanges in all areas which fall under the regulation of the SEC.

Planners Oppose 40th, Normal Zoning

By TOM EKVALL
Star Staff Writer

The City-County Planning Commission Wednesday voted 5-1 to recommend denial of a zoning change at the southeast corner of 40th and Normal to allow development of a shopping center.

David Tews, an attorney representing Advanced Products Inc., requested a change from A-1 Single Family to G Local Business for a shopping center with an enclosed mall and 20 stores.

The majority of the planning commission members, though, felt the site was not a good spot for a shopping center. The rezoning was supported by commission member Gilber Deitemeyer, who said a shopping center there would be a proper use.

Two Reasons

On the other hand, Mrs. Thelma Miller, who voted against the rezoning, cited the way streets come into the intersection and the fact the property is on the edge of a "nice residential area."

Addressing herself to remarks by Tews earlier that businesses would be interested in locating at the site, Mrs. Miller said she would like to see market feasibility reports on such proposals.

Commission members varied on how the land could best be developed.

Opposed By Residents

The rezoning was opposed by area residents and had been recommended for denial by the commission approximately a year ago. The rezoning was not acted on by the City Council.

A proposal to allow theaters in the business zoning districts was recommended for approval.

Other recommendations:

—Approval of proposed vacation of north-south alley adjacent to Cadwalladers Court east of 21st.
—Approval of vacation of east-west alley immediately south of Huntington Ave. between 58th and 60th.
—Denial of change of zone from B Two Family to D Multiple Dwelling on property at 20th and Euclid, requested by L. H. Feerhusen.
—Approval of change of zone from G Local Business to I Commercial on property at 29th and O, requested by Robert Johnson.
—Denial of change of zone from B Two Family to D Multiple Dwelling on property at 8th and C, requested by Paul Stoehr.
—Approval of change of zone from G Local Business to H-1 Highway Business on property at 45th and R, requested by Mowbray Buick.
—Laid over special permit to construct a parking lot at approximately 42nd and N, requested by Midwest Plumbing and Heating Co.
—Approval of special permit for a community unit plan amendment in Southwood Addn. and preliminary plat of Southwood 2nd Addn. in vicinity of 27th and Nebraska Hiwy.
—Approval of report on photography studios as a home occupation.
—Approval of final plat of Pierce-Rentfro Industrial Plaza at 48th and Superior.
—Laid over for further study preliminary plat of Rockridge Acres southeast of Lincoln.

Akron, Ohio — Underinflation is the worst enemy of tires with plenty of tread, tire manufacturers warn. Underinflation by four to 12 pounds can cut tire life 10 to 40 per cent.

Lincoln Teachers Not Included In Ruling

A spokesman for the Lincoln Public Schools Wednesday said the clarification apparently would still leave Lincoln teachers under the effect of the freeze.

Most teachers, said Associate Supt. Robert Den Hartog, are issued 12 monthly payments for a contract based on the number of teaching days starting with the fall semester.

And, since the Lincoln district's fiscal year starts Sept. 1, after the freeze order was issued, the new clarification from Washington would apparently leave the Lincoln situation unchanged.

The Lincoln school board Tuesday voted to comply with the freeze and hold employe wages to last year's levels.

Budget Director Glenn Smith of the University of Nebraska said most faculty members there also get 12 monthly payments, but for a contract year that begins with the fall semester.

The university's fiscal year does start July 1, but Smith said the new ruling apparently would not permit the granting of planned increases to those faculty members whose contracts went into effect after the freeze.

Indian Succeeds In Fighting Charge In Gordon

Sheridan County law enforcement figures are not significantly different from those of other counties in the 16th Judicial District. Indians in the county number less than 500 out of a total population of nearly 10,000, but are prosecuted for almost 80% of the county's misdemeanor and felony offenses.

Ninety per cent of these are alcohol-related offenses, such as drunkenness, disturbing the peace and driving under the influence of alcohol.

The practice of prosecuting intoxication as a crime is one that has been criticized by many Indians in the area, who claim that it gives county and local police the right to arrest Indians for an offense they say never applies to whites.

Successful Fight

Last spring, 22-year-old Virgil Charging Thunder successfully contested a case of drunkenness the city of Gordon brought against him. The case was a rare instance of a western Nebraska Indian challenging a misdemeanor charge.

In March, Charging Thunder was arrested by Gordon police officers John Paul and Ernest Armstrong after police received a complaint from the Western Bar.

Charging Thunder later admitted that he had been drinking on the night in question, but he said he was not drunk and the complaint had been made after he accidently dropped a bottle of beer in the bar.

Charging Thunder left the bar when the owner asked him to and as he left police arrived. Charging Thunder then ran into a nearby lumber yard and hid under a pile of posts.

During the arrest that followed, Charging Thunder was struck by Officer Armstrong and his nose was broken. Charging Thunder claimed he was denied medical attention during the weekend he was confined in jail.

According to Armstrong, he struck the Indian "when he appeared to be getting ready to take a swing at me." But Armstrong denies Charging Thunder was hit in the face, or that his nose was broken. He also claims Charging Thunder never requested medical attention.

A local doctor examined Charging Thunder when he was released from jail and verified the fact that his nose was broken.

Charging Thunder was later found guilty by Gordon Police Magistrate Kay Lou Peterson of drunkenness and resisting arrest. The case merited no special attention in Gordon, the town had seen many like it.

Lincoln Group Helps

What made the case unusual was the fact that Charging Thunder decided to appeal the police magistrate's decision. Chadron attorney Laurice Margheim agreed to take the case, a Lincoln group called Justice, Inc. raised $160 to help defray legal costs, and a hearing was set for district court.

The hearing was never held. Charging Thunder and his attorney were informed by the district court that the city had chosen to drop the case.

According to attorney Margheim, the court decision was not the first to be challenged by a western Nebraska Indian, but it was one of the few times an Indian has challenged misdemeanor charges leveled against him.

Charging Thunder's conviction of the two offenses in Gordon's city court probably resulted from inadequacies in the judicial system, but not racial prejudice, Margheim said.

Magistrate courts in western Nebraska "work undue handicaps on the poor that are the product of a lousy system that forces untrained people to handle cases that'd be hard for someone with the best legal training," he added.

"It was an example of a layman judging a case when she really didn't know that much about the law. She got $4 for spending her morning down there judging that case. It's a tragic thing and it makes for inferior courts."

Q. Will increases in the salaries of teachers be allowed?

A. If the contract period started before Aug. 15, the salary increase may be granted. If the contract period starts after Aug. 15, the increase is not allowed.

According to attorney Margheim, the court decision was not the first to be challenged by a western Nebraska Indian, but it was one of the few times an Indian has challenged misdemeanor charges leveled against him.

Charging Thunder's conviction of the two offenses in Gordon's city court probably resulted from inadequacies in the judicial system, but not racial prejudice, Margheim said.

Magistrate courts in western Nebraska "work undue handicaps on the poor that are the product of a lousy system that forces untrained people to handle cases that'd be hard for someone with the best legal training," he added.

"It was an example of a layman judging a case when she really didn't know that much about the law. She got $4 for spending her morning down there judging that case. It's a tragic thing and it makes for inferior courts."

UAW Softens Stand On Wage, Price Freeze

(c) New York Times News Service

Washington — Leonard Woodcock, president of the United Automobile Workers, met with George Meany of the AFL-CIO Wednesday and then told reporters his union would try to "accommodate" itself to the wage-price freeze "as a practical matter." Although the statement was a significant softening of Mr. Woodcock's previous opposition to the freeze, he made it clear that unions still oppose the president's program.

Devaluation Continues

London — Foreign exchange trading quickened in European markets, and the dollar's value dropped further against all leading European currencies. Against the West German mark, the dollar was devalued by 7.5%, compared with 7.2% Tuesday and 6.4% Monday.

China Rejects Proposals

Moscow — The Soviet government newspaper Izvestia said that China had rejected the "constructive proposals" to ease tensions made by the Soviet Union at the two nations' 22-month-old talks in Peking. If the Chinese had accepted the proposals, Izvestia said, they would have been prevented "from playing on international differences and from making China into a central power in the world."

Evidence Is Obtained

New York — Several sources close to the commission investigating allegations of police corruption confirmed that the commission had photographs and tape recordings showing dozens of city policemen dealing with heroin dealers and gamblers.

Thieu Continues Campaign

Saigon — While American officials in Saigon tried to salvage the appearance of a contested presidential campaign, President Nguyen Van Thieu told his aides to continue with their plans for his campaigning despite the lack of an opponent. Ellsworth Bunker, the American ambassador, met twice with Thieu during the day.

Tax Credits Possible

Washington — Parents of private school children would be reimbursed with tax credits under a plan reported to be favored by the president's panel on non-public education. That and other proposals to aid students rather than the institutions they attend are considered as ways to get around the supreme court's ban on direct aid to church-connected schools.

Walter Jones Indicted

Newark, N.J. — A federal grand jury in Newark indicted Walter H. Jones, a commissioner of the Port of New York Authority and one of New Jersey's most prominent Republicans, on charges that he covered up a $2.4-million bank fraud in Bergen County. Peter Moraites, a former Republican assembly speaker now in prison, was named as a codefendant.

Depot Is Enemy Target

. . . WIDESPREAD ATTACKS ARE EXPECTED

Saigon (AP) — Enemy forces blew up a major U.S. ammunition dump at Cam Ranh Bay Wednesday and shelled five other American installations, including the big air base at Da Nang.

Shortly thereafter, the U.S. and South Vietnamese commands warned that Communist-led forces are planning widespread attacks across South Vietnam in the next few days.

The predicted increase in attacks apparently is planned as an enemy show of strength before South Vietnam's National Assembly elections Sunday.

Sappers Blamed

The explosions that ripped through the sprawling U.S. ammunition dump at Cam Ranh Bay were believed set off by Viet Cong sappers, specially trained to infiltrate bases and blow up installations.

Officially, the U.S. Command said the cause was unknown but officers at the scene, 190 miles northwest of Saigon said they were certain it was enemy action, probably a sapper attack.

Hundreds of tons of bombs and other munitions went up in smoke and flames.

The explosions started at 2:45 a.m., a U.S. spokesman said, and continued for nearly 13 hours. Even after the blasts halted at midafternoon, fires raged until after dark and prevented ordnance experts from entering the depot to assess the damage and pin down the cause.

5 Servicemen Hurt

The U.S. command said five American servicemen were injured slightly but none was killed. Air Force operations at the adjoining air base closed down for seven hours.

Three months ago, a band of Viet Cong sappers blew up six fuel tanks containing 1½ million gallons of aviation fuel at Cam Ranh Bay. The base, once regarded as the most secure in South Vietnam, was the site of visits by President Lyndon B. Johnson in 1966 and in 1967.

Among other U.S. installations hit by new enemy shellings was the U.S. Airbase at Da Nang, a frequent target of rocket or mortar barrages.

Two rockets also struck a hamlet outside Da Nang, touching off fires that leveled 100 thatched huts and killed five Vietnamese civilians and wounded six more.

Over-all U.S. casualties in the shellings of American installations were described by military spokesmen as light, with no fatalities. Other sources said less than a dozen men were wounded.

The South Vietnamese command said that nine civilians were killed and 21 were wounded in two shellings, an ambush and a terrorist bombing.

Heavy action continued along the demilitarized zone on South Vietnam's northern frontier as it has since Aug. 12.

In new air raids, six U.S. B52 bombers unloaded 180 tons of explosives on North Vitnamese positions in the southern half of the DMZ. Six more B52s pounded the sector immediately below the buffer zone.

From offshore, the U.S. destroyer Shelton and the Australian destroyer Brisbane joined in bombarding the southern part of the DMZ. Navy spokesmen said the two warships fired at 30 targets, including rocket and mortar launching sites.

Allied officers said intelligence reports indicated an imminent increase in terrorism, ground attacks and shellings — all aimed at intimidating the population and generally disrupting the elections.

"The U.S. Command has received indications that the enemy may be planning a high point of activity during the next few days," said a communique from the headquarters of Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, U.S. commander in Vietnam.

ARMSTRONG QUITS NASA

Neil A. Armstrong, the first man to set foot on the moon, said he will leave the U.S. space agency this fall for a teaching job at the University of Cincinnati. But he said only another space flight would keep him in the space agency, and that "would be impossible."

Cuban Rebel Exile Asks For Divorce

Miami, Fla. (AP) — Jailed Cuban exile leader Orlando Bosch has asked a court to dissolve his 20-year marriage to the wife who last year collected 100,000 signatures on petitions asking for his release from prison.

Bosch, serving a 10-year sentence in federal prison in Missouri for terrorist activities, said his marriage to Myriam Bosch was "irretrievably broken."

Mrs. Bosch, like her husband, is a pediatrician. She works for the Dade County Health Department.

The couple have five children ranging in age from 11 to 17.

Welfare Rolls Show Decline

Washington (AP) — The government's latest welfare statistics, released Wednesday, show the first decline in the nation's relief rolls since they began ballooning three years ago.

The number of persons receiving public assistance in May — the latest month for which statistics are available — decreased 37,000 or 0.3 per cent, from April to 14,369,000 the Department of Health, Education and Welfare announced.

The May drop followed a marked slowing in welfare growth the previous month. But an HEW spokesman said it will require "another month showing a decline before we can really call it a trend."

Can't Explain

For reasons government specialists cannot explain, most of the shrinkage was in that portion of the family program benefiting families headed by unemployed fathers. The drop there was 34,000 persons, or 3.9 per cent, from April despite continuing high unemployment.

A small increase in the number of female-headed families receiving aid resulted in the aggregate decline of only 16,000 recipients, to 10.2 million persons in the family program.

This total is still 25 per cent more than the 8.1 million persons receiving family benefits in May 1970. The remaining 4 million welfare recipients are the relatively stable number of aged, blind and disabled persons.

Nineteen states and Puerto Rico reported drops in their family programs from April. Some thirteen of these 20 were listed in a July HEW memorandum as taking steps, because of fiscal distress, to cut welfare benefits or eligibility.

Under Pressure

"We are concerned about this situation because the needs of welfare recipients have not lessened — they, too, are under financial pressures," HEW welfare director John D. Twiname said earlier this month in announcing the April leveling off.

A spokesman for Twiname, who is on vacation and could not be reached for comment, said the same concern applies to the May drop.

In a further indication of belt-tightening by states, the average welfare payment per family dropped for the second consecutive month almost $2 a month to $183.75. Public-assistance payments totalled $1.5 billion in May.

Six states and Puerto Rico showed decreases of 3,000 or more family recipients in May. They were Alabama, 28,700; Puerto Rico, 24,300; California, 13,200; Oregon, 5,600; New York, 41,800; Washington, 4,000; and New Jersey, 3,200.

The 13 states showing smaller drops were Idaho, Kansas, Kentucky, Maine, Montana, New Mexico, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Dakota, Utah, West Virginia, Wisconsin, and Wyoming.

. . . Charged In Wife's Death

Falls City (AP) — A Falls City man sought on first degree murder charge in the death of his wife surrendered without resistance Wednesday shortly after learning of his wife's death.

Witnesses said that Donald Bernhart, 34, was spotted near the farm home of his brother, Paul, two miles west and two miles north of Salem at 1:30 p.m. Paul urged the fugitive to come into the home and it was then that Bernhart first learned that his wife Mary Lou, 25, had died in a hospital Monday of bullet wounds.

She had been shot five times with a small automatic pistol Sunday night

Richardson County Sheriff L. D Camblin learned of Bernhart's whereabouts in a telephone call at 1:55 p m. and set out for the Paul Bernhart home with three Falls City policemen. Pawnee County Sheriff Charles Hall also set out for the home and the State Patrol helicopter in Lincoln was asked to stand by

Call Relayed

When the Falls City officers were about one-tenth of a mile from the home, a telephone call from Mrs. Paul Bernhart was relayed to the sheriff's car and she said that if the sheriff would permit Paul to bring the wanted man to town, he would give himself up

The sheriff agreed and a few minutes later a car carrying the fugitive and his brother came out from the farm home. Camblin and his group followed the vehicle to the Richardson County Courthouse where Bernhart surrendered without resistance at 2 30 p m He was not armed at the time.

Grain Storage Capacity Up By 5 Million Bushels In State

By DOMINICK COSTELLO
Farm Editor

Nebraska's farmers and elevator operators have greatly expanded the state's grain holding capacity since the 1969 crop caused huge piles of grain to accumulate along the railroads awaiting transportation to market.

Much of the grain spoiled resulting in losses to the elevators and in some cases to the farmers. Since that time many elevator operators have tried to improve their operations to enable their employes to handle larger quantities of grain faster.

Howard Elm, executive secretary of the Nebraska Grain and Feed Dealers Association, estimates that from 3 to 5 million bushels of new storage capacity has been completed or is in the planning stages.

Much of the new capacity will be capable of aeration which aids in maintaining the quality of the grain Close to 2 million bushel of dryer capacity has been added in the past three years in addition to the increased storage capacity Much of the grain that spoiled was too wet to store safely

It is an expensive business to build grain storage however. Elm estimates the cost of concrete storage at $1.50 per bushel in a structure that would hold 250,000 bushels or less. A million bushel or larger elevator would cost $1.00 per bushel of capacity, he said.

Total figures for increase in on the farm storage are likely to be considerably higher as many farmers are remodeling existing structures or acquiring used bins from various sources to add to their capacity.

UAL Ends Omaha-NY Nonstop Flights

Omaha (AP) — The last nonstop air service between Omaha and the East Coast will be eliminated in September by United Air Lines.

In addition to ending a round-trip operating between Eppley Airfield and New York's John F. Kennedy International Airport, United will ground two flights between Omaha and San Francisco and will suspend some weekend service, C. E. Willmann, district sales manager, said Wednesday.

Omaha Airport Authority Executive Director Ronald B. Grear said the cutbacks "will give us the same level of east-west airline service that United provided in 1963.

That situation is almost inconceivable, considering that United is now carrying at least 50% more passengers in and out of Omaha as it did eight years ago"

Grear said he will ask for an opportunity for authority members to meet with United President Edward E. Carlson in an effort "to have some of the flights restored and to prevent a further degradation of service."

No Reduction Here

J. J. Radican, United Air Lines manager in Lincoln, told The Star Wednesday that no reduction in UAL service is planned for Lincoln although there will be minor time charges, effective next month.

Nebraska News

The airline made no public announcement of the schedule change However, company personnel have begun telephoning Midlands residents who had reservations on the flights to be cancelled. The schedule change will take effect Sept 12.

Willmann said he was withholding an announcement pending a firm decision at United's Chicago headquarters on the possible restoration of the non-stop flight to New York next spring.

Willmann said the schedule reductions "are part of a continuing cost-reduction program by United," which had a net loss of $40 million in 1970.

United will continue to have through service to New York by way of Chicago, Willmann said

The cancelled New York flight leaves Omaha at 2.15 p.m and returns from Kennedy Airport at 7 p m.

The grounded San Francisco flights depart Omaha at 9 a m. and leave San Francisco at 9.55 a.m

Other Sept 12 changes·

—Grounding on Saturdays of a flight from Omaha to Chicago s Midway Airport and National Airport in Washington.

—Grounding on Saturday of a late afternoon flight to Midway.

EVENTS
IN PERSPECTIVE

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

It is no surprise that the killings that took place recently at San Quentin ended up in a state of disorder in the courts. Somehow, the latest San Quentin episode was brought into a court hearing for the two surviving "Soledad" brothers, charged with killing a guard at Soledad State Prison last year.

United Press International described it as a "chaotic, shouting court hearing." The judge was disqualified because he had been a former prosecuting attorney and the defense tried to bring action against San Quentin authorities, a move in which they were unsuccessful.

And from her Marin County jail cell, Angela Davis issued a statement saying that the killing of George Jackson at San Quentin was murder by fascist bullets. An enemy bullet, she said, has once again brought grief and sadness to black people and to all who oppose racism and injustice.

The state authorities, on the other hand, said they will proceed to review and change procedures in their penal system. All operations will be tightened up where trouble-making inmates are concerned.

Our feeling is that people in general will find far more agreement with the California penal authorities than with Angela Davis and the "Soledad" defendants and their attorneys. The truth is that the kind of wild affairs that accompany such people as Miss Davis and the "Soledad" brothers is the kind of thing the American people are tired of.

Not surprising, either, is the fact that Miss Davis had nothing to say about the three guards killed at San Quentin and the others who were seriously injured. She didn't even shed a tear for the other two inmates who were killed.

The radical left wingers are apparently trying to build a case which says that San Quentin authorities staged the whole recent escape attempt in an effort to kill George Jackson. If so, their plans certainly went awry.

It is a little too much to believe that San Quentin authorities would sacrifice the lives of three guards to get to George Jackson. And it is just too hard to believe Miss Davis and others like her who make a mockery of the freedoms of this nation while hiding behind them.

We are 100 per cent with California state authorities and their planned crackdown on revolutionaries in the penal system. It is ridiculous in the first place to think that an underground press could be operated in a prison system and that inmates be afforded a national audience for every crackpot claim they want to make and insult they want to hurl at the nation.

Everybody is for freedom and justice but this doesn't give anyone a license for wholesale abuse. Everybody believes in justice and rehabilitation for those who commit crimes against people and society but when you commit a crime, you have to pay the penalty for it.

Most people are getting tired, too, of the advantage being taken of our judicial system. The disruption of our courts to the point where the administration of justice is an impossibility is an exercise of which we have had enough.

We have had enough, too, of those who take advantage of our legal system and so distort the meaning of everything that final decisions can hardly be rendered. We don't want any "hanging tree" justice but we wish justice could be administered with a little more dispatch and efficiency.

There are a lot of things in the area of human justice and opportunity that we need to do but the way to do it is not through revolution. And while we may well admit to plenty of shortcomings, it should be recognized that there is nowhere else in the world where freedom and opportunity are as great as they are in the United States.

Prison reform is one thing we need, with far greater emphasis on the rehabilitation of criminals, but we need to deal, also, with the criminal who refuses to be rehabilitated. Those who want to totally defy the social and political system of the country should expect to suffer the consequences.

We hope that it will finally dawn upon would-be revolutionaries that such a course of action is an unproductive one and one that will effectively lose for them their freedom or any hope of a very rewarding way of life.

'Who Says I'm Not Trying To Bring People Together?'

Freeze Applies To All?

The director of the midwest office of the Office of Emergency Preparedness told newsmen Tuesday that President Nixon's wage and price freeze has met with an excellent initial response from the public. But the real test, he conceded, is yet to come.

A majority of the public accepts the wage-price freeze now, but will that acceptance continue through the 90 days and, possibly, beyond? What about that minority in the work force—a powerful one, which feels the President's program should not apply to it—and which will fight for retroactive pay increases once the ceiling is lifted?

Talking about the second phase, or what might come after Nov. 12, Treasury Sec. John Connally said that "one of the principal advantages, it seems to me, to the wage-price freeze is to cause the American people to halt for a moment and think about what they are doing to themselves with this constant stair-stepping of wages and costs and price increases . . ." If labor challenges the freeze in the courts, he again promised, the administration won't back down.

Connally is pointing out that the new program will not work if the freeze is complied with for 90 days and then wage earners demand back pay for raises they should have gotten during the freeze period. If retroactive pay increases were granted across the board, the President's policy will have gained nothing.

The situation was brought into focus locally Tuesday when the Lincoln Board of Educaton froze employe salaries at the 1970-71 level and directed school administrators to put funds tabbed for wage increases into an "appropriately titled account." School board members decided not to investigate the possibility of lowering the local property tax levy to reflect the savings because of possible future legislative or court action—as promised by the National Education Association, which has pledged an attmpt through the courts to secure for teachers raises negotiated before the freeze went into effect.

Lincoln Education Association Executive Secretary Ely Feistner thinks that that money belongs to teachers, as does board of education member John Lux, "whether it's postponed six months or a year."

Such comments do not indicate any thought of what might happen in the future: of putting the economy back in the shape it was before by reactivating the wage-price spiral. President Nixon didn't envision the opening of savings accounts for employes, as the Lincoln Board of Educaton and other employers have done out of uncertainty. He asked all Americans to sacrifice a little in the time ahead and we think he should be heeded.

On Nixon's Terms

President Nixon's steadfast adherence to his program of ending U.S. involvement in Vietnam and his grabbing ahold of a new approach — for him — to curtail inflation will necessarily cause, adjustments in the strategy of the various Democratic contenders for the presidency in 1972.

All of the Democratic hopefuls, declared and undeclared, probing the country in search of support said before the President's dramatic announcement of his new economic moves two weeks ago that the economy would be the major issue in the next campaign.

It's still the major issue, but it will come into play more on Nixon's terms. The Democrats can help to wreck the President's plan, or they can sit back to see if it will work. Nixon has much to gain or much to lose, but if he loses, so does the country.

Less surprising than Nixon's economic switch but still an admission of some importance was Sen. George McGovern's announcement this week that he is dropping the Vietnam war as his main campaign issue in favor of the economy. "I expect to say very little about Indochina in the next year," said McGovern, one of the war's most outspoken opponents. "I will have very little public comment on the war from here on out."

McGovern, a public figure of very high principles, is also revealing that he has a practical side when it comes to politics. President Nixon's war policy has taken one of the two major campaign issues away from the Democrats. And if his economic turnabout pays off, he will have robbed them of both.

Truck De-Hijacker Has Great Promise

NEW YORK — There's just no limit to what our scientists can do. Now they've come up with a gadget that could save our wandering children . . . make wives stick to the family budget . . . and even keep husbands from straying down the primrose path.

Of course, it will need a few adjustments here and there. But the possibilities are endless.

What this gadget is, really, is a master-control device (no bigger than a bread box) that has been invented to keep thieves from hijacking trucks.

It's called the Routemaster, and (if it performs as advertised) it could be the electronic wonder of the age.

☆ ☆ ☆

The secret trick goes something like this: Somebody decides the specific route a truck is to take, puts it on a computer-made tape, and then locks it into a master-control box mounted in the truck's cab.

There's another little console gadget on the dashboard that the driver has to activate before he drives off. Then, if the truck ever strays from the programmed route, everything goes haywire: lights flash, a buzzer sounds, the engine gives out an ear-splitting alarm — and promptly goes dead.

You can't bring it to life again, either. Not unless you know the secret code to feed back into the system.

Nifty, eh?

Some genius dreamed this up to foil hijackers, but think of the possibilities it could have if he'd tinker with it a little so you could hook it up to people. (Sort of like the heart Pacemaker they plant under the skin.)

☆ ☆ ☆

It would be great for teenagers. Parents could program their adolescent wanderings every night: say, from the movies . . . to the pizza parlor . . . to a friend's house . . .and then home

Let the little devil get ideas of his own (like a side jaunt down lover's lane, maybe) and all those bells would ring and those buzzers buzz and junior would come to a screeching halt.

Husbands could use it to keep the little woman away from unexpected bargain sales. Simply wire her for the routine trips to school... library . . . supermarket . . . cleaner's . . etc. The minute she tries to sneak a quick trip to an antique shop or the bingo parlor, zap . . . the gadget goes berserk.

It would work both ways, too. Husbands couldn't stray from their computer-taped trips to the office . . . Joe's restaurant for lunch . . . and home by dinnertime. No long drives in the country with that redheaded receptionist . . . or "sitting up with a sick friend" at the local gin mill.

The idea may have a few bugs here and there. But you have to admit it's a worthy project. And, the way trucks are being hijacked thes days, they'll have those buts worked out before you know it.

Nixon Manner On Economic Speech Resented But European Leaders Concede Understanding

LONDON — And so we are about to try the great international monetary experiment. Willy nilly, without the usual agreement in these matters of the leading central bankers and finance ministers, the float is on. One way or another, the dollar's value in terms of other major currencies is going to be established over at least the next several weeks in the market place.

That is a first striking result of President Nixon's monetary demarche. It will be a result welcomed in Washington — and by many reformers in the financial world. For in the float the other currencies will certainly go up, producing the effective devaluation of the dollar that the President wants and others have long termed necessary.

But is the result worth the resentment aroused by American tactics during the extraordinary week of financial and political turmoil? The question is beginning to be asked. Putting it slightly differently, was it necessary for the President to be quite so brusque, so uncommunicative with friends, so insulting and self-righteous in his rhetoric in order to achieve what he wanted?

Nixon charged other financial powers, who happen to be America's friends and allies, with "unfair treatment" of the dollar. He blamed our monetary troubles on "the international speculators." In language reminiscent of Harold Wilson's bootstrap jingoism before the pound was devalued, he said, "We are not about to ease up and lose the economic leadership of the world."

Even some foreign observers who approved of the President's actions found his rhetoric hard to take.

The United States can rightly complain of discriminatory policies no longer justified by weakness, notably Japanese protectionism. But everyone knows that the dollar crisis has arisen in large part from American policy in recent years: the Vietnam war, the huge capital outflow, the unwillingness to face domestic inflation and so on. As for the speculators, they are just a joke. If the dollar is overvalued, as Nixon has just conceded, it is not speculation but common sense for anyone with financial responsibility to assume its eventual devaluations.

What gives concern abroad is not a little rhetorical bombast but the thought that the President's language could represent a real turn toward nationalist, fortress America. That fear has been exacerbated by the fact of the import surcharge and its open use by the American administration to twist arms; some called it blackmail.

But on the whole, all this has had an understanding reception among the officials and financial men of Western Europe. They are sophisticated people, with an ear for American political realities, and they tend to take Nixon's words as a political calculation. One experienced diplomat said:

"I found the tone of the Sunday night speech disturbing. But there is a current of nationalism in the United States now, and it is understandable if the President thought it right to respond to it by presenting his program as a way to kick the bloody foreigner in the teeth. The speech was an attempt to head off worse. We have to read it that way."

The European response, taken as a whole, must be regarded in Washington as satisfactory. There is strong resentment at the surcharge, but there is no real threat of the kind of retaliation that could lead to a trade war. The markets have been upset, but that will appear as a minor inconvenience if the experiment with floating leads to a new stability—admittedly rather an uncertain "if."

☆ ☆ ☆

The political cost of the aggressive American tactics, if there is one, will be paid in Japan. Sensitivities are greater there, dependence on American strength most acute, understanding of American politics less sophisticated.

The manner of President Nixon's new economic policy was inevitably taken in Tokyo as another example — like the way he broke the news about his visit to China — of failure of communication. There was a sense of wounded mutual confidence, reflected in a business leader's remark that "Japan and America can in future be good trading partners, but not again members of the same family."

The administration would doubtless say that shock tactics were essential to get other governments moving. But were haste and secrecy so essential that Premier Sato could not have been given notice more than a few minutes before the President spoke? The end result of more reasonable exchange rates could justify the means used. But there remains a lingering feeling that Nixon's words and manners reflect an assumption of American economic hegemony that is no longer valid.

However, letters will be printed under a pen name or initials at the editor's discretion.

Discrimination

The first session of the Nebraska 82nd Legislature passed, among other legislation, Legislative Bill 506, regarding the custody of children in a divorce decree, and states in part:

" . . . No presumption shall exist that the mother of such children is more fit to take custody than the father. There shall exist no presumption that the welfare of the children is better served by custody with their mother than with their father, or that the mother has any stronger right to custody than the father."

This is a significant addition to our laws. It puts into statute what the Constitution of the United States guarantees and has been further amplified by the Federal Civil Rights Acts stating that no class of person (including divorced fathers) shall be discriminated against.

This bill was introduced by Senator John W. DeCamp, 40th District, passed by the vote of 39 "for" and none "against." It was signed by Gov. J. J. Exon, April, 1971, and will become law August 27, 1971.

Lincoln, Neb.

On August 18, The Star printed my letter about saving the six trees on North 62nd Street, especially the silver maple.

I wish to express my thanks for printing the letter. On August 20 I received a phone call from Leo Scherer, the mayor's assistant, that the mayor had given orders for the six trees to be avoided, and saved from destruction.

I certainly wish to thank the people who called and wrote me; and especially those who wrote and called the mayor to save the trees. It seems that many people in Lincoln love and appreciate their trees and are willing to express themselves to save beautiful healthy trees.

And a special thanks to those people who included the trees in their prayers . . .

It gets so humid that we turn our air-conditioner on between four and six p.m., or my husband will suffer from sinus or hay fever. But that air-conditioner makes me sneeze as if I had a cold.

By bedtime we turn the air-conditioner off and open the windows for the natural breeze. I can sleep well by this every night. But there are at least two houses where the dogs stay out and bark any time of the night. Those who own small dogs know enough to take them in for the night or teach them not to bark at everything.

The three dogs who bother us are all big dogs, and the place for them is in the country where they won't wake neighbors all the way from two a.m. until six.

I heard about a law that someone wanted passed that would forbid mowing before six o'clock on Sunday mornings so others could sleep. How about muzzling the dogs at least until five a.m.?

Deception

Blair, Neb.

As a matter of fact, President Nixon should go down in history as a leader in the waste of public funds. For a headline, one day, he assigns millions from the public treasury to lead a personal attack (with taxpayer money, of course) to fight cancer, and this despite the fact that there is already more than enough money to carry on this vital fight.

Now he would have us believe that shoveling out $50 million to India to purchase a $3 million annual crop of dope will make the slightest dent in dope addiction in the United States. It is somewhat like using a straw to siphon the Missouri River dry, and Mr. Nixon knows this better than anyone else.

Subsidizing India, a new way, and with the usual deception. While we keep over 200,000 American boys in a lost war in South Vietnam to become dope addicts on Indochina dope.

There are many sources of "poppy crop" in the world, some closer to us even than India. Sources can change rapidly in this illict business.

So our President compounds deception, knowing better, and often just for a headline designed to further his insatiable desire for re-election, or public endearment.

We had our own chilled muskmelon for dinner today and it was extra special despite all the near misses. As it was, some animal, no doubt a coon, had torn it from the vine and scratched the shell during the night. Previously the rabbits had eaten the tender runners.

I suspect the coons, had they tasted the melon, would eat all of them as they ripen. Now I cover the ones that are turning yellow every night. It is nip and tuck to get something away from the wild creatures for our own consumption.

At first when I saw the melon displaced from the vines at the edge of the garden, I thought it was a small basketball. Coons playing basketball in the garden at night, I wondered? The coons are all about since we have no dog for we see their small footprints like small hands pressed into the mud after every rain. They have eaten some of the neighbors' sweet corn and prowl about in search of any good food that man is trying to raise for himself.

The Farmer replanted the field with rye that green bugs had eaten earlier in the season. The bugs will eat small plants and seemed to devour the sudex in no time. He mixed canary grass and brome with it hoping in time the canary grass will take over in the low, wet land and become a permanent pasture for the cattle. We have had no rain since he put it into the ground so nary a spear has shown up so far but we do hope for rain so it can get started and be a late fall grazing area. Native pasture is drying up and the sudex is almost gone. He is fixing an electric fence around a volunteer wheat field that he disked after harvest. This is nice and green and will furnish feed for awhile.

It seems there must be future pasture coming on all the time when there are cows and calves about the farm. Spring calves seem to have a great appetite now and graze alongside the old cows. Rain would help keep the forage green and growing.

The days are typical August . . . hot and dry. I am always glad when August has had its fling for another year. I know it is the month of maturity for the plant life . . . the drying process and preparation for the harvest, but those thoughts don't help one bit when work must be done under the searing rays of the sun.

The housewife scurries around to pick beans or dig beets early in the morning before the heat of the day makes the task almost unbearable. But the farmers must be out moving pipe or putting up hay through all of the searing heat of the day. I don't see how they can stand the grueling hours of labor they put in every day.

I am constantly reminding The Farmer that he is not as young as he used to be and should stop and rest more frequently. Perhaps this is the wrong thing to say for he always laughs and goes about his work as if he wants it all done up neat and tidy in case his life should suddenly cease.

Of course I know Grandma Moses was well past middle age before some of her best work was done and Michelangelo did some of his best painting when he was well up in the years. I don't think The Farmer could compete with them. I know The Farmer's Wife is not interested in such competition.

I am perfectly willing to leave some of the work for those of the younger set to do when I am gone. Perhaps with something like labor before them, they will not have time for boredom. They will also find that there can be a feeling of satisfaction in doing a job and doing it well. Whether they go to the moon to pick up rocks or remain on earth to pick up the tasks that we did not have time to finish makes little difference. There is joy in work.

EVENTS IN PERSPECTIVE

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

It is no surprise that the killings that took place recently at San Quentin ended up in a state of disorder in the courts. Somehow, the latest San Quentin episode was brought into a court hearing for the two surviving "Soledad" brothers, charged with killing a guard at Soledad State Prison last year.

United Press International described it as a "chaotic, shouting court hearing." The judge was disqualified because he had been a former prosecuting attorney and the defense tried to bring action against San Quentin authorities, a move in which they were unsuccessful.

And from her Marin County jail cell, Angela Davis issued a statement saying that the killing of George Jackson at San Quentin was murder by fascist bullets. An enemy bullet, she said, has once again brought grief and sadness to black people and to all who oppose racism and injustice.

The state authorities, on the other hand, said they will proceed to review and change procedures in their penal system. All operations will be tightened up where trouble-making inmates are concerned.

Our feeling is that people in general will find far more agreement with the California penal authorities than with Angela Davis and the "Soledad" defendants and their attorneys. The truth is that the kind of wild affairs that accompany such people as Miss Davis and the "Soledad" brothers is the kind of thing the American people are tired of.

Not surprising, either, is the fact that Miss Davis had nothing to say about the three guards killed at San Quentin and the others who were seriously injured. She didn't even shed a tear for the other two inmates who were killed.

The radical left wingers are apparently trying to build a case which says that San Quentin authorities staged the whole recent escape attempt in an effort to kill George Jackson. If so, their plans certainly went awry.

It is a little too much to believe that San Quentin authorities would sacrifice the lives of three guards to get to George Jackson. And it is just too hard to believe Miss Davis and others like her who make a mockery of the freedoms of this nation while hiding behind them.

We are 100 per cent with California state authorities and their planned crackdown on revolutionaries in the penal system. It is ridiculous in the first place to think that an underground press could be operated in a prison system and that inmates be afforded a national audience for every crackpot claim they want to make and insult they want to hurl at the nation.

Everybody is for freedom and justice but this doesn't give anyone a license for wholesale abuse. Everybody believes in justice and rehabilitation for those who commit crimes against people and society but when you commit a crime, you have to pay the penalty for it.

Most people are getting tired, too, of the advantage being taken of our judicial system. The disruption of our courts to the point where the administration of justice is an impossibility is an exercise of which we have had enough.

We have had enough, too, of those who take advantage of our legal system and so distort the meaning of everything that final decisions can hardly be rendered. We don't want any "hanging tree" justice but we wish justice could be administered with a little more dispatch and efficiency.

There are a lot of things in the area of human justice and opportunity that we need to do but the way to do it is not through revolution. And while we may well admit to plenty of shortcomings, it should be recognized that there is nowhere else in the world where freedom and opportunity are as great as they are in the United States.

Prison reform is one thing we need, with far greater emphasis on the rehabilitation of criminals, but we need to deal, also, with the criminal who refuses to be rehabilitated. Those who want to totally defy the social and political system of the country should expect to suffer the consequences.

We hope that it will finally dawn upon would-be revolutionaries that such a course of action is an unproductive one and one that will effectively lose for them their freedom or any hope of a very rewarding way of life.

Truck De-Hijacker Has Great Promise

NEW YORK — There's just no limit to what our scientists can do. Now they've come up with a gadget that could save our wandering children . . . make wives stick to the family budget . . . and even keep husbands from straying down the primrose path.

Of course, it will need a few adjustments here and there. But the possibilities are endless.

What this gadget is, really, is a master-control device (no bigger than a bread box) that has been invented to keep thieves from hijacking trucks.

It's called the Routemaster, and (if it performs as advertised) it could be the electronic wonder of the age.

☆ ☆ ☆

The secret trick goes something like this: Somebody decides the specific route a truck is to take, puts it on a computer-made tape, and then locks it into a master-control box mounted in the truck's cab.

There's another little console gadget on the dashboard that the driver has to activate before he drives off. Then, if the truck ever strays from the programmed route, everything goes haywire: lights flash, a buzzer sounds, the engine gives out an ear-splitting alarm — and promptly goes dead.

You can't bring it to life again, either. Not unless you know the secret code to feed back into the system.

Nifty, eh?

Some genius dreamed this up to foil hijackers, but think of the possibilities it could have if he'd tinker with it a little so you could hook it up to people. (Sort of like the heart Pacemaker they plant under the skin.)

☆ ☆ ☆

It would be great for teenagers. Parents could program their adolescent wanderings every night: say, from the movies . . . to the pizza parlor . . . to a friend's house . . .and then home.

Let the little devil get ideas of his own (like a side jaunt down lover's lane, maybe) and all those bells would ring and those buzzers buzz and junior would come to a screeching halt.

Husbands could use it to keep the little woman away from unexpected bargain sales. Simply wire her for the routine trips to school . . . library . . . supermarket . . . cleaner's . . . etc. The minute she tries to sneak a quick trip to an antique shop or the bingo parlor, zap . . . the gadget goes berserk.

It would work both ways, too. Husbands couldn't stray from their computer-taped trips to the office . . . Joe's restaurant for lunch . . . and home by dinnertime. No long drives in the country with that redheaded receptionist . . . or "sitting up with a sick friend" at the local gin mill.

The idea may have a few bugs here and there. But you have to admit it's a worthy project. And, the way trucks are being hijacked thes days, they'll have those buts worked out before you know it.

Nixon Manner On Economic Speech Resented But European Leaders Concede Understanding

LONDON — And so we are about to try the great international monetary experiment. Willy nilly, without the usual agreement in these matters of the leading central bankers and finance ministers, the float is on. One way or another, the dollar's value in terms of other major currencies is going to be established over at least the next several weeks in the market place.

That is a first striking result of President Nixon's monetary demarche. It will be a result welcomed in Washington — and by many reformers in the financial world. For in the float the other currencies will certainly go up, producing the effective devaluation of the dollar that the President wants and others have long termed necessary.

But is the result worth the resentment aroused by American tactics during the extraordinary week of financial and political turmoil? The question is beginning to be asked. Putting it slightly differently, was it necessary for the President to be quite so brusque, so uncommunicative with friends, so insulting and self-righteous in his rhetoric in order to achieve what he wanted?

Nixon charged other financial powers, who happen to be America's friends and allies, with "unfair treatment" of the dollar. He blamed our monetary troubles on "the international speculators." In language reminiscent of Harold Wilson's bootstrap jingoism before the pound was devalued, he said, "We are not about to ease up and lose the economic leadership of the world."

Even some foreign observers who approved of the President's actions found his rhetoric hard to take.

The United States can rightly complain of discriminatory policies no longer justified by weakness, notably Japanese protectionism. But everyone knows that the dollar crisis has arisen in large part from American policy in recent years: the Vietnam war, the huge capital outflow, the unwillingness to face domestic inflation and so on. As for the speculators, they are just a joke. If the dollar is overvalued, as Nixon has just conceded, it is not speculation but common sense for anyone with financial responsibility to assume its eventual devaluations.

What gives concern abroad is not a little rhetorical bombast but the thought that the President's language could represent a real turn toward nationalist, fortress America. That fear has been exacerbated by the fact of the import surcharge and its open use by the American administration to twist arms; some called it blackmail.

But on the whole, all this has had an understanding reception among the officials and financial men of Western Europe. They are sophisticated people, with an ear for American political realities, and they tend to take Nixon's words as a political calculation. One experienced diplomat said:

"I found the tone of the Sunday night speech disturbing. But there is a current of nationalism in the United States now, and it is understandable if the President thought it right to respond to it by presenting his program as a way to kick the bloody foreigner in the teeth. The speech was an attempt to head off worse. We have to read it that way."

The European response, taken as a whole, must be regarded in Washington as satisfactory. There is strong resentment at the surcharge, but there is no real threat of the kind of retaliation that could lead to a trade war. The markets have been upset, but that will appear as a minor inconvenience if the experiment with floating leads to a new stability—admittedly rather an uncertain "if."

☆ ☆ ☆

The political cost of the aggressive American tactics, if there is one, will be paid in Japan. Sensitivities are greater there, dependence on American strength most acute, understanding of American politics less sophisticated.

The manner of President Nixon's new economic policy was inevitably taken in Tokyo as another example — like the way he broke the news about his visit to China — of failure of communication. There was a sense of wounded mutual confidence, reflected in a business leader's remark that "Japan and America can in future be good trading partners, but not again members of the same family."

The administration would doubtless say that shock tactics were essential to get other governments moving. But were haste and secrecy so essential that Premier Sato could not have been given notice more than a few minutes before the President spoke? The end result of more reasonable exchange rates could justify the means used. But there remains a lingering feeling that Nixon's words and manners reflect an assumption of American economic hegemony that is no longer valid.

LIFE BEGINS AT FORTY:

Baroness Contends Wealth And Status Not Necessary To Full, Rewarding Life

By ROBERT PETERSON

I'm constantly impressed with the resiliency of mankind. Though disasters strike causing well-ordered worlds to tumble, some humans are flexible enough to take drastic changes in their stride.

Such a human is the Baroness Lucie von Arnim, now in her 80s. In talking with her she related how at the beginning of World War II her world of luxury, status, and position began to crumble.

"My husband was German, and since he opposed Hitler our property and possessions were confiscated and we barely escaped Europe with our lives," said this slender, white-haired woman whose mother was lady-in-waiting to Queen Victoria and whose husband was a financier and long term ambassador to China.

"I preceded my husband to New York, arriving without enough money for lodging. I checked into a hotel and the following morning found a newspaper under the door. I was nearly 60 and had never worked in my life But I read the ads and saw an opening in a hospital for a dietitian.

"I had studied dietetics in school as a girl and had directed staffs of servants in England, Germany, and China. So I applied along with other applicants and promised the interviewer I would infuse the hospital cuisine with continental flair and flavor. She was so impressed with my promise — which I'm glad to say I lived up to—that she gave me the job.

"Later, my husband joined me and although it took several months of searching he finally found a small job in the foreign exchange section of a New York bank. So we settled down to a life of hard work and budgeted expenditures."

I asked what happened in intervening years. "I retired a few years ago and although my husband has passed away I still manage to find a reason for being. I've got a tiny apartment and am almost entirely dependent on my Social Security income, based on my work at the hospital. I've discovered that many things in life are more important than money. I really think poor people with a sound set of values get more out of life than most wealthy people.

"I've discovered that the real satisfactions are very basic things such as health, enough food, a roof over your head, some friends, and a sense of usefulness—something I derive from my work with a senior citizens club. I also try to make friends with everyone I meet, and offer my services where they can be used. In the past 30 years," she concluded, "I haven't been to a ball, worn a sable wrap, curtsied to an emperor, or tasted caviar. And come to think of it, I haven't missed it a bit. It's nice being wealthy and important, but average folks with a moderate income have just as many—if not more—opportunities for real satisfaction."

This woman's story is inspiring, not only for the spunk she demonstrated in going to work late in life, but for her flexibility which made it possible for her to adjust to vastly reduced circumstances without spilling tears over the pomp and plenty of other days.

This Week's Health Tip

Here is a health tip from the Nebraska State Medical Association·

Motorcycles are becoming increasingly popular and, unfortunately, motorcycle accidents are also increasing. Many medical authorities now call the motorcycle accident rate a "national epidemic."

This health tip from the Nebraska State Medical Association is a little advice on how to stay on a motorcycle and stay healthy. Veteran riders know that a motorcycle will not drive itself. The rider must be continually alert.

A group of physicians, investigating motorcycle accidents, found that a surprising number happened on the victims' first or second ride. Beginners often put too much trust in a machine that can quickly get out of control.

Many severe head injuries could be prevented if every motorcycle rider wore a crash helmet. By far the most common injuries, however, are to arms and legs. The severity of these might be reduced if riders wore more protective clothing—the heavier the better.

Catholic School Chiefs Ask Ed Board To OK Services To Handicapped Pupils

By MILAN WALL
Star Staff Writer

Nebraska's Catholic school chiefs have called upon the State Board of Education to approve only those federal Title I programs which meet the requirements for services to educationally disadvantaged private school children.

In a letter signed by the three diocesan superintendents, the Nebraska Catholic Education Association asked the state board at its Sept. 3 meeting "to instruct the Title I director to approve only Title I programs which provide private school handicapped children with "those services and activities . . . (which are) comparable in quality, scope and opportunity for participation to those provided for public schoolchildren with needs of equally high priority."

The Catholic educators contend that State Education Department rulings, which deny the use of federal funds to pay salaries of therapist's and aides in the private schools, mean the federal guidelines are not being met.

Father James Dawson, superintendent of the Lincoln diocese and one of the signers of the letter, said Wednesday he is confident the state board will grant the request.

If it does, he said "they would have to send many of the (Title I) programs back to the local education agencies to have them rewritten."

'Not Being Done'

"The federal guidelines say services to the handicapped children in private schools must be comparable to the services offered in the public school," Father Dawson said. "And that just isn't being done."

Current practice is for private school students who qualify for Title I programs to go to public schools for the Title I services.

In Lincoln, for example, two speech therapists have been assigned to provide help for Title I children from the Catholic schools in the city.

But Father Dawson said the fact that the children must walk to the public school to participate in the program compromises the effectiveness of the instruction.

Because of that walk, he said, "it frequently takes the child 45 minutes to an hour to get a 20-minute instruction.

'Why Waste Time?'

"The child is already handicapped," he added. "Why handicap him further by wasting the time which he should spend in school?"

For those reasons, he said, many parents have refused to allow their children to participate.

Lincoln's Catholic schools had asked that the two therapists and four remedial reading aides be allowed to go into Catholic Title I schools, Father Dawson explained.

The department of education's most recent ruling prohibits that.

So, he said, he and the other two diocesan superintendents decided to go to the state board to seek a clarification of the matter.

"If we can't settle it on the state level, we'll have to take it to the national level," he said.

But he added: "I think every attempt should be made to solve this here in Nebraska."

The Lincoln superintendent said "there's the possibility of additional litigation . . . in this field of use of federal funds for handicapped private schoolchildren," but added he was unsure if it would come on the particular issue of Title I funds for therapists and aides.

"This is not a new problem," he said.

"We've been working on it for six years, and we have attempted one method after another to obtain the services guaranteed by the federal guidelines."

Different Tactic

Conceding that Catholic educators have decided to take on a different tactic, he added:

"It's my feeling that as long as we sit behind closed doors accepting in good faith their promises in May which are terminated in August or September, this problem will never be solved.

"We've had this kind of runaround now for six years."

He said the State Department of Education said in May that funds could be used to pay personnel in the private schools, and that the decision was reversed a few days ago.

Stanley Says Cash Available For Pupils Dually Enrolled

State education Commisioner, Cecil Stanley, said Wednesday federal funds will continue to be available for private and parochial school children who are also enrolled in a public school.

Tuesday Atty. Gen. Clarence A. H. Meyer, when questioned, said his office has not researched the legality of dual enrollment.

Stanley said. "In effect, we've been doing it for 25 years. It's completely legal and I don't intend to ask the attorney general for an opinion.

Encouraged By State

"We have actually encouraged dual enrollment. We won't let the public schools have the funds unless they allow parochial children into programs such as remedial reading, via dual enrolment."

Paul O'Hara, executive director of the Nebraska Catholic Conference, said regarding Meyer's comment on dual enrollment:

"We are through trusting public school officials who insure that we will be involved in certain educational programs, design the programs with our help and approval, then petition the attorney general for a ruling on the legality of our involvement.

"The resulting opinion has almost always been detrimental to our children — in the most recent instance, handicapped children."

O'Hara was referring to last week's ruling by the attorney general that federally paid, non-instructional aides would not be permitted to help handicapped children enrolled in private and parochial schools.

Regarding the cloud around the question of dual enrollment, O'Hara said. "We're not going to go through that again. We want a legal opinion before the fall school term starts. It is either legal, or it is not; and the issue is not a matter of 'local option.'"

CAR FLIPS OVER IN BETHANY

Twenty-year-old Robert Schroeder of Hastings escaped serious injury Wednesday morning when the car he was driving went out of control on Cotner between Francis and Aylesworth, police said. Schroeder told police he was southbound on Cotner when he saw a construction barrier in the road. He applied his brakes but lost control of his auto, which left the street and rolled over, coming to rest on the curb. The car was a total loss. (Star Photo by Jim DeCamp.)

Catholic School Chiefs Ask Ed Board To OK Services To Handicapped Pupils

By MILAN WALL
Star Staff Writer

Nebraska's Catholic school chiefs have called upon the State Board of Education to approve only those federal Title I programs which meet the requirements for services to educationally disadvantaged private school children.

In a letter signed by the three diocesan superintendents, the Nebraska Catholic Education Association asked the state board at its Sept. 3 meeting "to instruct the Title I director to approve only Title I programs which provide private school handicapped children with "those services and activities . . . (which are) comparable in quality, scope and opportunity for participation to those provided for public schoolchildren with needs of equally high priority."

The Catholic educators contend that State Education Department rulings, which deny the use of federal funds to pay salaries of therapist's and aides in the private schools, mean the federal guidelines are not being met.

Father James Dawson, superintendent of the Lincoln diocese and one of the signers of the letter, said Wednesday he is confident the state board will grant the request.

If it does, he said "they would have to send many of the (Title I) programs back to the local education agencies to have them rewritten."

'Not Being Done'

"The federal guidelines say services to the handicapped children in private schools must be comparable to the services offered in the public school," Father Dawson said. "And that just isn't being done."

Current practice is for private school students who qualify for Title I programs to go to public schools for the Title I services.

In Lincoln, for example, two speech therapists have been assigned to provide help for Title I children from the Catholic schools in the city.

But Father Dawson said the fact that the children must walk to the public school to participate in the program compromises the effectiveness of the instruction.

Because of that walk, he said, "it frequently takes the child 45 minutes to an hour to get a 20-minute instruction.

'Why Waste Time?'

"The child is already handicapped," he added. "Why handicap him further by wasting the time which he should spend in school?"

For those reasons, he said, many parents have refused to allow their children to participate.

Lincoln's Catholic schools had asked that the two therapists and four remedial reading aides be allowed to go into Catholic Title I schools, Father Dawson explained.

The department of education's most recent ruling prohibits that.

So, he said, he and the other two diocesan superintendents decided to go to the state board to seek a clarification of the matter.

"If we can't settle it on the state level, we'll have to take it to the national level," he said.

But he added: "I think every attempt should be made to solve this here in Nebraska."

The Lincoln superintendent said "there's the possibility of additional litigation . . . in this field of use of federal funds for handicapped private schoolchildren," but added he was unsure if it would come on the particular issue of Title I funds for therapists and aides.

"This is not a new problem," he said.

"We've been working on it for six years, and we have attempted one method after another to obtain the services guaranteed by the federal guidelines."

Different Tactic

Conceding that Catholic educators have decided to take on a different tactic, he added:

"It's my feeling that as long as we sit behind closed doors accepting in good faith their promises in May which are terminated in August or September, this problem will never be solved.

"We've had this kind of runaround now for six years."

He said the State Department of Education said in May that funds could be used to pay personnel in the private schools, and that the decision was reversed a few days ago.

Stanley Says Cash Available For Pupils Dually Enrolled

State education Commisioner, Cecil Stanley, said Wednesday federal funds will continue to be available for private and parochial school children who are also enrolled in a public school.

Tuesday Atty. Gen. Clarence A. H. Meyer, when questioned, said his office has not researched the legality of dual enrollment.

Stanley said, "In effect, we've been doing it for 25 years. It's completely legal and I don't intend to ask the attorney general for an opinion.

Encouraged By State

"We have actually encouraged dual enrollment. We won't let the public schools have the funds unless they allow parochial children into programs such as remedial reading, via dual enrolment."

Paul O'Hara, executive director of the Nebraska Catholic Conference, said regarding Meyer's comment on dual enrollment:

"We are through trusting public school officials who insure that we will be involved in certain educational programs, design the programs with our help and approval, then petition the attorney general for a ruling on the legality of our involvement.

"The resulting opinion has almost always been detrimental to our children — in the most recent instance, handicapped children."

O'Hara was referring to last week's ruling by the attorney general that federally paid, non-instructional aides would not be permitted to help handicapped children enrolled in private and parochial schools.

Regarding the cloud around the question of dual enrollment, O'Hara said, "We're not going to go through that again. We want a legal opinion before the fall school term starts. It is either legal, or it is not; and the issue is not a matter of 'local option.' "

CAR FLIPS OVER IN BETHANY

Twenty-year-old Robert Schroeder of Hastings escaped serious injury Wednesday morning when the car he was driving went out of control on Cotner between Francis and Aylesworth, police said. Schroeder told police he was southbound on Cotner when he saw a construction barrier in the road. He applied his brakes but lost control of his auto, which left the street and rolled over, coming to rest on the curb. The car was a total loss. (Star Photo by Jim DeCamp.)

Navy Chief Doesn't See Base In Cuba

Washington (UPI) — The Russians apparently have not built a base in Cuba to service submarines although they are maintaining missile-firing subs off both U.S. coasts, Adm. Elmo R. Zumwalt has told a Pentagon news conference.

Zumwalt, the chief of naval operations, was asked Tuesday if the Soviets had developed facilities for servicing nuclear-powered submarines in Cienfuegos Harbor.

"I believe there is not a Soviet submarine base there," Zumwalt said. "I believe it is generally known that the Soviets are maintaining y-class subs off both our coasts. Had they obtained a base there (in Cuba) they could have maintained a larger number."

Y-class subs are the equivalent of the U.S. Polaris. Zumwalt said Soviet subs now must return to their bases for resupply and because of this, the Soviets can keep only a relatively small number on patrol off American coasts.

The United States now has 41 nuclear-powered, missile-firing subs, and the Soviets are believed to have 28. Zumwalt said the Soviets were building nuclear subs at a "fantastic rate."

Freeze Is Called Too Little, Too Late

President Nixon's economic restrictions should apply to profits, dividends and interest rates, First District Democratic congressional hopeful Larry Doyle of Milligan said Wednesday.

"The wage-price freeze hurts the little man, who finds himself out in the cold as far as improving his standard of living," Doyle said.

"All this while big business is able to increase its already excessive profits."

Doyle, who is considering a congressional race in 1972, said Nixon's new economic policy is "definitely too little and too late."

It "should apply to everyone 100%," he said.

"The President is forcing the working man to accept his current income, but relying solely on the patriotism of big business to limit their own profits."

Prisoner Is Found Dead In His Cell

A 22-year-old convict was found dead in his cell at the Nebraska Penal Complex's adjustment center, Warden Charles L. Wolff Jr. reported Wednesday.

He was identified as Reggie Ondrak of Lincoln, who was serving a term for burglary from Lancaster County.

The cause of death was not immediately determined, but Wolff said no violence was involved.

The State Patrol's criminal division was conducting an investigation to determine the circumstances of Ondrak's death and an autopsy has been ordered by Lancaster County Atty. Paul Douglas.

Douglas said an autopsy report had not been received as of late Wednesday afternoon, but indicated prison officials suspect the inmate may have self-administered some type of substance.

Wolff said Ondrak, who was alone in his cell, apparently died sometime between the 11 p.m. bedcheck and 8 a.m. Wednesday.

War Is Lousy But Haranguing Bad, Says Thone

The war in Vietnam "is a rotten, lousy war, and the sooner we get out the better," Rep. Charles Thone, R-Neb., said Wednesday.

But the continual haranguing about the war "is not in the best national interest," he told the Gateway Sertoma Club.

Bargaining power is dissolved when a firm date for withdrawal is set, he said.

Under 5% Of New Nebraska Voters Have Registered

Well under 5% of Nebraska's prospective new voters — those age 18 through 20 — have registered so far as voters, the Nebraska Democratic Party reported Wednesday.

The figure is based on a poll of county clerks and election commissioners. Responses came from 76 of the state's 93 counties.

The tabulation showed 2,869 persons in the 18-19-20 year old category have registered in the 76 counties. The total includes 1,406 Democrats 1,192 Republicans and 271 independents.

With an estimated 86,000 persons in this age group, the survey indicates "there is much left to be done," said State Democratic Chairman Hess Dyas.

Three 10-Year-Olds Stash Bikes In Van And Take Drive

Three 10-year-old Lincoln boys apparently got tired of pedaling their bikes and tried out a motorized van for size.

Police Capt. Lowell Sellmeyer Wednesday said the trio was riding bicycles in the central part of Lincoln when they noticed a 1971 model van had its keys inside.

Sellmeyer said the boys told him they tossed their bikes in the back of the van and started for Omaha.

Officers said it took two boys to drive the van — one on the pedals, and the second manning the steering wheel. The third boy apparently didn't want to test his driving skills, they said.

A state trooper spotted the van weaving from side-to-side on the highway and followed for about a mile, stopping them near the Millard interchange.

Sellmeyer said the boys were taken into Omaha and then returned to Lincoln where juvenile authorities gave them "a stiff lecture" and sent them home.

Freeze Is Called Too Little, Too Late

President Nixon's economic restrictions should apply to profits, dividends and interest rates, First District Democratic congressional hopeful Larry Doyle of Milligan said Wednesday.

"The wage-price freeze hurts the little man, who finds himself out in the cold as far as improving his standard of living," Doyle said.

"All this while big business is able to increase its already excessive profits."

Doyle, who is considering a congressional race in 1972, said Nixon's new economic policy is "definitely too little and too late."

It "should apply to everyone 100%," he said.

"The President is forcing the working man to accept his current income, but relying solely on the patriotism of big business to limit their own profits."

Prisoner Is Found Dead In His Cell

A 22-year-old convict was found dead in his cell at the Nebraska Penal Complex's adjustment center, Warden Charles L. Wolff Jr. reported Wednesday.

He was identified as Reggie Ondrak of Lincoln, who was serving a term for burglary from Lancaster County.

The cause of death was not immediately determined, but Wolff said no violence was involved.

The State Patrol's criminal division was conducting an investigation to determine the circumstances of Ondrak's death and an autopsy has been ordered by Lancaster County Atty. Paul Douglas.

Douglas said an autopsy report had not been received as of late Wednesday afternoon, but indicated prison officials suspect the inmate may have self-administered some type of substance.

Wolff said Ondrak, who was alone in his cell, apparently died sometime between the 11 p.m. bedcheck and 8 a.m. Wednesday.

War Is Lousy But Haranguing Bad, Says Thone

The war in Vietnam "is a rotten, lousy war, and the sooner we get out the better," Rep. Charles Thone, R-Neb., said Wednesday.

But the continual haranguing about the war "is not in the best national interest," he told the Gateway Sertoma Club.

Bargaining power is dissolved when a firm date for withdrawal is set, he said.

Under 5% Of New Nebraska Voters Have Registered

Well under 5% of Nebraska's prospective new voters — those age 18 through 20 — have registered so far as voters, the Nebraska Democratic Party reported Wednesday.

The figure is based on a poll of county clerks and election commissioners. Responses came from 76 of the state's 93 counties.

The tabulation showed 2,869 persons in the 18-19-20 year old category have registered in the 76 counties. The total includes 1,406 Democrats 1,192 Republicans and 271 independents.

With an estimated 86,000 persons in this age group, the survey indicates "there is much left to be done," said State Democratic Chairman Hess Dyas.

Selected counties responding to the poll, with number of new voter registrations so far (D-Democrat, R-Republican, I-Independent):

The man was Allen R. Daniel, 21, of Hydro, Okla. Police Tuesday had to saw Daniel's helmet from around his head.

Three 10-Year-Olds Stash Bikes In Van And Take Drive

Three 10-year-old Lincoln boys apparently got tired of pedaling their bikes and tried out a motorized van for size.

Police Capt. Lowell Sellmeyer Wednesday said the trio was riding bicycles in the central part of Lincoln when they noticed a 1971 model van had its keys inside.

Sellmeyer said the boys told him they tossed their bikes in the back of the van and started for Omaha.

Officers said it took two boys to drive the van — one on the pedals, and the second manning the steering wheel. The third boy apparently didn't want to test his driving skills, they said.

A state trooper spotted the van weaving from side-to-side on the highway and followed for about a mile, stopping them near the Millard interchange.

Sellmeyer said the boys were taken into Omaha and then returned to Lincoln where juvenile authorities gave them "a stiff lecture" and sent them home.

POSTCARD by Stan Kleinsmith

At 9 o'clock the baby-sitter comes to the cottage. Then we go down to breakfast in the breezy dining room that looks across the blue sparkling water to the green, tropical hills of St. Thomas, U.S. Virgin Islands.

The baby-sitter is Arliss (or Orliss). She is 17. Native-born to the island of St. John. She is apparently too shy to tell me how to spell her name. I have been trying to interview her.

"What is that on the porch, Orliss?"

"That is a wum, suh."

"A worm?" (This thing is eight inches long. It is an inch thick. It is striped like a king snake. It looks like one of the things Fu-Manchu used to keep in his zoo for knocking off the opposition with trick Oriental poison.)

"Yes, suh. Wum." (Okay. It's a worm. I'd hate to see what they call a snake.)

☆ ☆ ☆

Seafaring men have shaped the American Virgin Islands. First came Columbus on his second voyage. He was running out of holy names for all the island and bays and rivers of the discovery.

He named these Virgin Islands for St. Ursula and her 11,000 martyred virgins.

This more than took care of the islands plus all the rocks around. There are 48 American islands, 32 British Virgin Islands. However, there are a lot of rocky points sticking up you could call islands.

Anyway, they are all covered by St. Ursula and the 11,000.

☆ ☆ ☆

America bought the Virgins in 1917. A possible coaling station and as the naval key to the Caribbean.

They bought it from the Danes. (Who, I imagine, have been pretty gloomy about it since the tourist trade started.)

Now the Navy is back. Training underwater demolition crews.

It is prime swimming water. You can see 20 or more feet down to the sugar-white sands.

They are also training porpoises. The Navy is. Pretty soon, porpoises will be in the Naval Reserve. And a porpoise may yet be appointed to the Naval Academy at Annapolis.

☆ ☆ ☆

The training of the intelligent porpoises has struck the fancy of the native Virgin Islands. They had no idea a fish could be so smart.

It is all secret work naturally. Hush-hush. Top Secret.

But I suppose a few porpoises have done some talking—that is the whole idea of the project; that porpoises can talk. We just don't read their fishy language yet.

"They going to tie atom bomb on those porpoise," said my coconut bartender.

"Those porpoise better than torpedo. They think!"

☆ ☆ ☆

Meanwhile back at the cottage. A brown animal is on the porch.

"What's that, Orliss"?

"That's a mongoose, suh."

"What's he do, Orliss?"

"They say he kill cobra, suh."

Well, that is interesting! I knew that striped thing on the porch was no blooming worm. Probably a deadly cobra. How close to death I was! How brave to walk out there!

The mongoose is a brownish little fellow. About the size of a squirrel.

"You sure that's a worm, Orliss? Maybe it's a cobra. You ever see a cobra, Orliss?"

"No, suh." Well, that could mean anything. Orliss is a shy girl. By the time she tells me about the cobras, it may be too late.

Two NU Students Receive Stipends From Coca Cola

Two University of Nebraska Lincoln campus students have been named recipients of the Lincoln Coca Cola Co. Jeff D. Martin scholarships for the coming school year.

William C. Littlejohn III of North Platte received a $296 scholarship, and a $200 scholarship was awarded to Michael Gregory of Rising City.

Frankfort, Ky. (AP) — Democratic and Republican candidates for governor and lieutenant governor spent almost $1.75 million during the May primary election.

Equality For Single Taxpayers Proposed

Congressman Charles Thone Wednesday said he is co-sponsoring a bill to give tax equality to widows, widowers and single people.

Those classifications of taxpayers are "being discriminated against unmercifully by present federal income tax laws," the First District Lincoln Republican said in his weekly newsletter.

"A widow with three children pays more taxes than a married couple with one child and the same income," Thone said. "This is outrageous."

The disparity for single persons as compared to a married couple with no children is even greater, he noted.

"The legislation I am co-sponsoring will provide that all people use the same tax schedules, regardless of their marital status," Thone said.

"A married couple with four children would have six exemptions, while a single person would have only one, but after both had determined their adjusted gross income they would use the same table to determine their tax liability."

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Judgment, intuition may be oblique rather than direct. Wait for opposition to show hand. Base actions on logic, not impulse. Accent on how to improve relations with mate, partner. Study legal potential.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Vitality returns if discipline is applied. Begin new work project. Obtain needed materials. Leo can aid. Share spotlight with associates. Relative could surprise with call, message or visit. Be moderate.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Good lunar aspect now coincides with investment potential. Revamp ideas, concepts. Be in tune with times. Welcome change, travel variety. Special study group will be beneficial. Accent curiosity.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Seek expansion. Means don't fall into trap, emotional or otherwise. Sagittarius can teach you. Be receptive. Negotiations regarding property could be concluded. Versatile approach impresses, wins. Act accordingly.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Responding in haste would be error. Concentrate forces. Stress stability. Neighbor or relative may be misinformed. Realize sincerity is no substitute for knowledge. Exercise intellectual curiosity.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Be aware of accounts, earning capacity. Make change, if necessary. Gemini and Virgo individuals figure prominently. Perceptive attitude results in gain. You can add to possessions. Plan ahead.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Physical appearance is enhanced by new apparel. Personality shines; you exude magnetic aura. Many are attracted, including opposite sex. Stress new starts, independence, original approach. Be self-reliant.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Accent on secrets, hidden meanings, clandestine arrangements. You work best now behind scenes. One who looks over your shoulder should be reprimanded. Protect confidential documents. Be wary.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): What starts as friendship could develop into something more meaningful. Be responsible; don't play games with emotions. Nothing now is apt to occur halfway. Relationships are intensified. Give and receive.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Honor due as result of past efforts. Conclude unique task, assignment. Throw off burden not rightly your own. Aggressive individual may try to take play from you. Display skills; you emerge victorious.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Accent on advertising, public expression of private thoughts. Highlight originality, independence, ability to take charge. Stress philosophical, spiritual concepts. One at a distance lends aid. Exchange idea.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you are at your best when working for yourself. You recently have dared to be more independent. Resulting doubts are due to evaporate. Your powers of discrimination usually result in quality. You seldom are satisfied with bargain-basement material. You gain when maintaining principles, standards. Seeds planted now are due to blossom in upcoming months.

I live in the country, but I go to a Lincoln public school. I want to ride my bike to school. Do I need a license for my 10-speed? —Carla Irons, Rural Lincoln

ACTION LINE: No, says Lincoln Police Dept, if you live outside the city limits of Lincoln Check with your Dad: if he did not have to pay Lincoln's wheel tax, then you don't have to pay the bike license fee.

Happy biking.

Last Sunday at 12:30 a.m., I passed our State Capitol on the way home and noticed the national flag still flying on the flag pole. I would think the Statehouse would be the first to care about the flag and its proper treatment.
—Mrs. Mel Beaman, Lincoln

ACTION LINE: A bill passed by the 1969 Nebraska Legislature says the American flag shall be permanently displayed on all public buildings where flown in the state and shall be illuminated from dusk to dawn until termination of the Vietnam conflict

As you noticed, the flag was properly illuminated.

New Faculty Panel Announced

Nebraska Wesleyan President Vance D. Rogers Wednesday announced creation of a Faculty Commission on Academic and Institutional Objectives.

The seven-member commission, whose membership is to be determined by the faculty, will be charged with investigating "the problem of making priority decisions which could determine the very character of the college," Dr. Rogers said.

At a faculty dinner Wednesday evening at the start of NWU's 84th year he outlined four specific areas for the commission to study and asked that it report to the Board of Governors by Feb. 1, 1972. The commission was asked:

(1) to evaluate the basic academic objectives under which we operate, to question anew what the primary educational tasks of the college are, and to restate or redefine those objectives,

(2) to review every academic major currently offered to determine under what conditions it might continue to be offered;

(3) to analyze the program of every department to determine what its personnel needs will be and what resources will be required if it is to offer the program envisioned for it, and

(4) to recommend to the board of governors a comprehensive description of the best academic organization which can be achieved at Nebraska Wesleyan within the limits of our resources and in conformity with our charter and heritage.

Dr. Rogers recalled that a similar faculty committee was appointed when he first came to Wesleyan in 1957.

"The original committee operated in a period of unprecedented growth in higher education immediately following World War II which affected most colleges and universities, including Nebraska Wesleyan. With this rapid and continuing growth come the necessity for expanded programs and a larger faculty. Also, almost unnoticed, there developed an expectation that growth and innovation, then the new marks of quality and success, would and should forever continue."

He noted declining enrollment trends at private colleges but said "expectations of growth continue to tempt us in spite of our recent experiences. In this light, it is time again to evaluate where we are, where we have been and where we are going."

While the faculty commission will not bear the final responsibility for determining the future of the college it will exercise the opportunity to influence directly the destiny of the college, he said.

Tecumseh Survey To Aid Rural Area

Tecumseh — Tecumseh residents will have a chance to help get more new housing built in town by taking part in an every - household, confidential survey to be conducted Thursday.

Authorized by Mayor Wolken, the confidential survey forms will be distributed to each household in the city by the Tecumseh Young Women's Club. Mrs. Steve Johnson, who is in charge of distribution, emphasized that, "This is going to be absolutely confidential. There will be no signatures, no local people will see the individual forms."

The survey has come about through the combined efforts of Vision-17 and the Department of Economic Development to do something about rural housing problems. Recent housing need studies conducted by the Nebraska Department of Economic Development have shown that there is a great need for low-to-moderately priced housing throughout the state. But more detailed information is needed to tell builders and lenders what the real demand is in each community, officials said.

In announcing the survey, Tecumseh Mayor Jack Wolken agreed that statistics show there is a definite need for new housing. He added, "A drive through almost any small town around here will show that the existing housing tends to be old even though some of it is in good repair. Conversations with people who have moved into the area concerning their problem in finding suitable housing emphasizes the tremendous need that exists in southeast Nebraska for adequate housing."

Don Sievers, housing specialist, State Department of Economic Development, noted that the survey is needed to show the specific demand that exists now for new housing in cities like Tecumseh.

"Too often," Sievers related, "governmental officials, organizations and citizens concerned with inadequate housing in their own community have become frustrated because builders and lenders are reluctant to try to operate in small, scattered markets. It's easier to stay in the big cities where cost factors are known."

Marie Arnot, community services coordinator, Nebraska Department of Economic Development noted that, "The Department of Economic Development hopes this survey will serve as a model to help many other communities in Nebraska to develop the data necessary to allow them to initiate programs and channel resources necessary to more effectively respond to housing problems."

Lincolnites' Property Tax Bill Expected To Rise 5.4%

Lincolnites can probably expect to pay a property tax bill of $98.13 per $1,000 assessed valuation, an increase of 5.4% over the 1970-71 levy, according to levies set or projected.

The levy is based on the City Council's expected approval Friday of the city budget as amended during budget review sessions.

The city budget calls for a levy of 27.12 mills as compared to 26.19 for the 1970-71 fiscal year and 26.97 as first proposed by Mayor Sam Schwartzkopf.

Should the council fail to adopt the budget, the mayor's proposed budget goes into effect.

Freeze Move Failed

A last-minute move Monday to freeze the mill levy at the 1970-71 fiscal-year level failed on a 3-3 vote.

Councilman Merle Hale, who made the freeze motion, said Wednesday he intends to vote for the budget Friday.

Meanwhile the Lancaster County Board Wednesday adopted a $13 million budget requiring a levy of 13.853 mills.

The board did not change the budget, deciding not to cut anything for anticipated savings because of the wage freeze. The savings had been estimated at less than $20,000.

The board also set levies for villages and fire districts; no action was taken on the Firth fire district because it has filed no budget with the county.

10.723 Last Year

The county levy compares with 10.723 mills for last year.

A homeowner having property valued at $20,000 and assessed at $7,000 would pay $686.91 in local taxes as compared to $651.70 for the 1970-71 fiscal year, an increase of $35.21.

Most of the increase is for county operations. That same homeowner would pay $96.796 for county operations in his next tax bill as compared to $75.061 for 1970, an increase of $21.735.

Breakdown

A breakdown of the county levy includes general fund, 5.203 mills; courthouse bonds, .227; relief, .757; day care, none; medical, 1.760; soldiers and sailors fund, .068; bridge, .947; highway, none; special road construction, 1.102; county building, 1.618; weed control, .108; building and grounds, none; Lancaster Office of Mental Retardation, none; institutional, 1.325; and Lancaster Manor, .713.

The Rail Transportation Safety District budget is projected to require a .48 mill levy.

Other budgets set are Airport Authority, 1.10 mills; Salt Valley Watershed District, .75; and schools, 54.85.

Church Group Discusses Corporate Responsibility

By LIANNE WETTERER
Star Staff Writer

Two representatives of the Council of Corporate Review (CCR), who have spent nearly three years fighting a Minneapolis manufacturer of anti-personnel fragmentation bombs, said their tactics include investigation of the moral and legal aspects of the company's profits from the Vietnam War.

Mary Williams and Lynn Buller, who helped spearhead the action against Honeywell, Inc., addressed a discussion-study group on "church investments and corporate social responsibility" at the National Seminar of Methodist Church Women at the Nebraska Center Wednesday.

Miss Williams explained that the CCR is trying to arrange for reconversion of the plant to peaceful production and open up new jobs as the bomb contracts run out.

Another seminar speaker, Don Luce, an American church journalist who spent 13 years in Vietnam, told the women that the refusal of American military authorities to treat Vietnamese prostitutes may have resulted in the development of an incurable strain of venereal disease.

Listed As Missing

Luce, who has been credited with uncovering and calling attention to the so-called "tiger cages" for political prisoners in Vietnam, said that "American soldiers who have contracted that strain have been listed missing in action and sent to an island off the Philippines."

He said a crash research program is underway to find a possible cure.

Vietnamese girls contracting venereal disease go to quack doctors who give them penicillin doses too small to completely eradicate the disease. Luce said.

The erratic dosage produces a strain that resists all known modes of treatment, he added, and a crash program to find a possible cure has been initiated.

Under IVS, WCC

Luce, co-director of the Indochina Resource Center in Washington, worked in Vietnam under the International Volunteer Service and the World Council of Churches.

The seminar, which got underway Monday, is an attempt to shape program priorities for women's organizations in the United Methodist Church for the next four years.

The nine-day conference ends Aug 31.

Lincolnites' Property Tax Bill Expected To Rise 5.4%

Lincolnites can probably expect to pay a property tax bill of $98.13 per $1,000 assessed valuation, an increase of 5.4% over the 1970-71 levy, according to levies set or projected.

The levy is based on the City Council's expected approval Friday of the city budget as amended during budget review sessions.

The city budget calls for a levy of 27.12 mills as compared to 26.19 for the 1970-71 fiscal year and 26.97 as first proposed by Mayor Sam Schwartzkopf.

Should the council fail to adopt the budget, the mayor's proposed budget goes into effect.

Freeze Move Failed

A last-minute move Monday to freeze the mill levy at the 1970-71 fiscal-year level failed on a 3-3 vote.

Councilman Merle Hale, who made the freeze motion, said Wednesday he intends to vote for the budget Friday.

Meanwhile the Lancaster County Board Wednesday adopted a $13 million budget requiring a levy of 13.853 mills.

The board did not change the budget, deciding not to cut anything for anticipated savings because of the wage freeze. The savings had been estimated at less than $20,000.

The board also set levies for villages and fire districts; no action was taken on the Firth fire district because it has filed no budget with the county.

10.723 Last Year

The county levy compares with 10.723 mills for last year.

A homeowner having property valued at $20,000 and assessed at $7,000 would pay $686.91 in local taxes as compared to $651.70 for the 1970-71 fiscal year, an increase of $35.21.

Most of the increase is for county operations. That same homeowner would pay $96.796 for county operations in his next tax bill as compared to $75.061 for 1970, an increase of $21.735.

Breakdown

A breakdown of the county levy includes general fund, 5.203 mills; courthouse bonds, .227; relief, .757; day care, none; medical, 1.760; soldiers and sailors fund, .068; bridge, .947; highway, none; special road construction, 1.102; county building, 1.618; weed control, .108; building and grounds, none; Lancaster Office of Mental Retardation, none; institutional, 1.325; and Lancaster Manor, .713.

The Rail Transportation Safety District budget is projected to require a .48 mill levy.

Other budgets set are Airport Authority, 1.10 mills; Salt Valley Watershed District, .75; and schools, 54.85.

Church Group Discusses Corporate Responsibility

By LIANNE WETTERER
Star Staff Writer

Two representatives of the Council of Corporate Review (CCR), who have spent nearly three years fighting a Minneapolis manufacturer of anti-personnel fragmentation bombs, said their tactics include investigation of the moral and legal aspects of the company's profits from the Vietnam War.

Mary Williams and Lynn Buller, who helped spearhead the action against Honeywell, Inc., addressed a discussion-study group on "church investments and corporate social responsibility" at the National Seminar of Methodist Church Women at the Nebraska Center Wednesday.

Miss Williams explained that the CCR is trying to arrange for reconversion of the plant to peaceful production and open up new jobs as the bomb contracts run out.

Another seminar speaker, Don Luce, an American church journalist who spent 13 years in Vietnam, told the women that the refusal of American military authorities to treat Vietnamese prostitutes may have resulted in the development of an incurable strain of venereal disease.

Listed As Missing

Luce, who has been credited with uncovering and calling attention to the so-called "tiger cages" for political prisoners in Vietnam, said that "American soldiers who have contracted that strain have been listed missing in action and sent to an island off the Philippines."

He said a crash research program is underway to find a possible cure.

Vietnamese girls contracting venereal disease go to quack doctors who give them penicillin doses too small to completely eradicate the disease, Luce said.

The erratic dosage produces a strain that resists all known modes of treatment, he added, and a crash program to find a possible cure has been initiated.

Under IVS, WCC

Luce, co-director of the Indochina Resource Center in Washington, worked in Vietnam under the International Volunteer Service and the World Council of Churches.

The seminar, which got underway Monday, is an attempt to shape program priorities for women's organizations in the United Methodist Church for the next four years.

The nine-day conference ends Aug. 31.

Brief Says State's Ratable Reduction Plan Okay With HEW

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

Nebraska's ratable reduction plan for aid to families with dependent children (AFDC) is "acceptable to the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW), according to an amicus curiae brief filed Thursday with the U.S. District Court.

The HEW friend-of-the-court brief, requested by Federal Judge Warren Urbom, was submitted in the lawsuit brought by two AFDC recipients challenging the legality and constitutionality of the state's cutback in payments to recipients with outside income as of Aug. 1.

A three-judge panel has been appointed to determine whether the State Welfare Department should be enjoined from ratably reducing payments.

'Acceptably Updated'

The HEW brief states that Nebraska "acceptably updated" its AFDC needs standards and payment maximums as of April 1, 1971, in line with a federal mandate.

In addition, the brief continues, the state has issued a "payments schedule derived by ratably reducing the new needs standards by 9.1%."

The HEW brief says the statutory claim of the challenging recipients appears to be based on the state's regulations requiring that a recipient family's outside income must be deducted from the ratably reduced payment level rather than the full needs standard with a ratable reduction.

Formerly, the state computed AFDC payments by deducting the family's outside income from the needs standard and then paying the indicated budget deficit subject to statutory maximum payments based on family size, according to the brief.

Effective Aug. 1

The new regulations (which became effective Aug. 1) require the outside income be deducted from the ratably reduced standard with the indicated deficit paid to the maximum based on family size.

"The department (HEW) views either of these alternatives as acceptable," the brief states.

HEW said it is difficult to assess the plaintiffs' claim that Nebraska is using an "arbitrarily reduced standard of need to compute payments."

"Regardless of whether outside income is subtracted from the full or the reduced standard, recipients will get less than their full need under a ratable reduction," the brief notes.

Standard The Same

"While it may be true that recipients with outside income are better off when income is applied against the full standard, the standard itself remains the same regardless of which computation method is used."

In a federal court hearing earlier this month, state officials agreed the payments to families with outside income are reduced under the plan, but emphasized the reduction plan has no effect on families without income (the majority of the AFDC caseload) because of the state's statutory maximums on ADFC payments.

While constitutional issues were raised by the plaintiffs, HEW said its brief was limited to questions involving the statutory challenge.

Nebraska Gets Meat Inspectors

By DOMINICK COSTELLO
Farm Editor

Federal authorities are preparing to move federal meat inspectors into Nebraska's state inspected plants under the terms of the 1968 Wholesome Meat Act.

This law requires the U.S. Department of Agriculture to take over the supervision of intrastate meat plants unless state controls are kept "at least equal" to the department's federal inspection standards.

The 1968 meat act had given 50 states and Puerto Rico until Dec. 15, 1970, to bring their inspection programs for intrastate plants up to federal standards. On June 18, 1971, six months after the terminal date, the Agriculture Department finally completed its evaluation of all states. Federal inspection was required in Puerto Rico, Minnesota, Montana and North Dakota, but state authorities were left in control of intrastate inspection in the 47 remaining states.

Now, however, Agriculture Department officials say they have determined that the state inspection system in Nebraska which was declared "equal to" federal Jan. 28 has since fallen below federal standards.

Nebraska authorities received official notice of the situation Aug. 6 and announced they were turning the inspection system over to the federal inspectors on the following day with the effective date of the change to be Oct. 1, 1971.

Reasons Cited

Glenn Kreuscher, state director of agriculture cited several reasons for the decision to turn the system over to the federal goernment.

"The failure of the 80% federal funding bill to help the states pay for the program, the increasing demand for additional inspectors to inspect grocery stores selling meat and then the federal government hired away Dr. Shires, one of our top inspectors, all about the same time we received the letter. So we decided to let them have the system and save a considerable amount of the present meat inspection funds which would have been exhausted under the federal requirements." Kreuscher said.

Under Agriculture Department procedures, the actual takeover will come 30 days after the Aug. 31 "designation," said James K. Payne, an official in the Consumer & Marketing Service.

Under the 1968 law, the early-August notice to Nebraska authorities gave them 30 days in which to correct shortcomings in their inspection system. But the state has indicated it plans to allow the system to move under federal control, Payne said.

In addition, other spokesmen said the notice giving one other state 30 days in which to correct substandard inspection has been issued. An official said the state would not be publicly identified here until its governor has had a chance to receive the letter and decide whether he wants to make his own announcement.

Plants Added

In the Nebraska case, approval of the state's system in January came after federal agents ruled it was adequate to cover the 97 intrastate plants then operating. Later, however, Payne said 18 additional plants came under the state system but no additional inspection personnel were added, probably because of financing problems.

Payne said the Agriculture Department has been operating, and intends to continue, a "continuous surveillance" of the state-operated inspection systems.

The official said he doubts that more than a few states will lose control of their inspection programs, but some are under heavy local pressure to voluntarily turn the systems over to federal control in order to trim state budgets, he added.

The intrastate meat plants account, all told, for only about 15% of the nation's meat supply. The remaining 85% comes from interstate plants which have for half a century been under the Agriculture Department's federal inspection program.

Nebraska Gets Meat Inspectors

By DOMINICK COSTELLO
Farm Editor

Federal authorities are preparing to move federal meat inspectors into Nebraska's state inspected plants under the terms of the 1968 Wholesome Meat Act.

This law requires the U.S. Department of Agriculture to take over the supervision of intrastate meat plants unless state controls are kept "at least equal" to the department's federal inspection standards.

The 1968 meat act had given 50 states and Puerto Rico until Dec. 15, 1970, to bring their inspection programs for intrastate plants up to federal standards. On June 18, 1971, six months after the terminal date, the Agriculture Department finally completed its evaluation of all states. Federal inspection was required in Puerto Rico, Minnesota, Montana and North Dakota, but state authorities were left in control of intrastate inspection in the 47 remaining states.

Now, however, Agriculture Department officials say they have determined that the state inspection system in Nebraska which was declared "equal to" federal Jan. 28 has since fallen below federal standards.

Nebraska authorities received official notice of the situation Aug. 6 and announced they were turning the inspection system over to the federal inspectors on the following day with the effective date of the change to be Oct. 1, 1971.

Reasons Cited

Glenn Kreuscher, state director of agriculture cited several reasons for the decision to turn the system over to the federal goernment.

"The failure of the 80% federal funding bill to help the states pay for the program, the increasing demand for additional inspectors to inspect grocery stores selling meat and then the federal government hired away Dr. Shires, one of our top inspectors, all about the same time we received the letter. So we decided to let them have the system and save a considerable amount of the present meat inspection funds which would have been exhausted under the federal requirements." Kreuscher said.

Under Agriculture Department procedures, the actual takeover will come 30 days after the Aug. 31 "designation," said James K. Payne, an official in the Consumer & Marketing Service.

Under the 1968 law, the early-August notice to Nebraska authorities gave them 30 days in which to correct shortcomings in their inspection system. But the state has indicated it plans to allow the system to move under federal control, Payne said.

In addition, other spokesmen said the notice giving one other state 30 days in which to correct substandard inspection has been issued. An official said the state would not be publicly identified here until its governor has had a chance to receive the letter and decide whether he wants to make his own announcement.

Plants Added

In the Nebraska case, approval of the state's system in January came after federal agents ruled it was adequate to cover the 97 intrastate plants then operating. Later, however, Payne said 18 additional plants came under the state system but no additional inspection personnel were added, probably because of financing problems.

The official said he doubts that more than a few states will lose control of their inspection programs, but some are under heavy local pressure to voluntarily turn the systems over to federal control in order to trim state budgets, he added.

Highway Ad Bill Studied By Senators

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

State Engineer Thomas Doyle Wednesday presented the legislative study committee on outdoor advertising with a proposed bill designed to comply with federal highway billboard requirements.

The legislation seeks to prevent Nebraska from losing about $4 million of its 1973 federal road fund allocation as a penalty for non-compliance.

The state stands to lose 10% of its federal funding if it fails to comply.

"This is a reasonable approach," Doyle said. "I hope it is also acceptable to the private interests affected."

Cities Not Included

In line with federal law, it would leave regulation of billboards in urban commercial or industrial areas largely in the hands of city governments.

Signs erected in those areas before the effective date of the act would not be required to conform to ensuing Department of Roads standards for highway billboards.

Sen. Eugene Mahoney of Omaha objected to the dual set of standards for urban and rural areas.

"Billboards are really going up in Omaha now," he said. "They're going up one right after another to the extent that they may block out the whole downtown area."

Mahoney said he would "like to see the same rules" applied to cities and rural areas.

Eldon Green, division engineer for the Federal Highway Administration, said billboard control in Omaha rests with the city government.

Penalty Questioned

Mahoney questioned whether the federal penalty for noncompliance would ever be applied.

It was never applied to states which failed to enact motor vehicle inspection laws, he said.

"There's always a big threat to take away federal funds," Mahoney noted.

Charles Chace of Lincoln, executive director of the Nebraska Petroleum Council, said his organization will support "reasonable legislation."

But, he said, it should be "no more restrictive" than that required to qualify the state for its full allocation of federal funds.

The proposed bill affects advertising along both the Interstate and primary highways.

State Colleges Must Acquire Insurance

By BOB GUENTHER
Star Staff Writer

For the first time, Nebraska's four state colleges will have liability insurance this fall as required of all state agencies by LB154 and 155 passed by the 1969 session of the Legislature.

However, the bills did not allocate any funds to pay for the insurance. The result has been that the state colleges must budget the insurance into present appropriations which may force cutbacks in some programs, according to Dr. James E. Todd, executive officer of the state colleges' board of trustees.

Just what "budget entities" may be affected Todd could not say.

"For instance, it could mean delaying the purchase of a car," Todd said.

He called the insurance necessary and important for the state colleges at Chadron, Peru, Wayne and Kearney.

Some of the insurance cost is covered by revenue bond operations such as student unions which produce profits. The rest will be covered by taxes. However, the exact percentage of each is unknown at this time.

Bids which were received last week cover personal injury and property damage. Some were extended to umbrella-coverage and riot insurance.

The low bid was $3,781 while the high bid reached $20,583.

However, Todd noted the lowest bid will not necessarily be the one which is accepted. Each policy, he said, has different features and the board of trustees is waiting for legal counsel to evaluate the policies and make a recommendation on which will provide the best coverage.

PARTIES FOR BRIDES IN LATE AUGUST

The week preceding a big wedding date can sometimes be rather hectic with last minute details, so the interjection of a shower can be quite refreshing.

Miss Lynn Jiracek, who will be married to Daniel T. Smith on Saturday afternoon, August 28, does not have much time to worry about those last minute items, since she is too busy enjoying the prenuptial activities.

One of those parties took place Tuesday afternoon when Mrs. Woodrow Livengood hosted a lingerie shower and dessert party at her home.

November seems a long way off, but what with parties, wedding plans, and all sorts of other events that occupy the time of a bride-to-be, it will be no time before that long-awaited walk down the aisle.

November bride-elect, Miss Pam Griffith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Griffith, was entertained at a miscellaneous shower on Wednesday evening, Aug. 18 — well before her Saturday, Nov. 6, marriage to Robert Becker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Becker of Algonquin, Ill.

Hostesses in courtesy to Miss Griffith were Miss Sarah Christiansen and Miss Pam Kohl.

Attendants, Parties

Naming the members of her bridal party this morning is Miss Lynn Jiracek, whose marriage to Daniel T. Smith, son of Mrs. Harold Smith of Denver, Colo., and the late Mr. Smith, will be an event of Saturday afternoon, Aug. 28.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Jiracek, the bride-to-be has chosen Mrs. Terry McClusker of Denver, Colo., and her fiance's sister, Miss Sharon Smith of New London, Conn., as her honor attendants for the 1:30 o'clock service which will be solemnized at St. Teresa's Church. Attending their sister as junior bridesmaids will be Miss Jennifer Jiracek and Miss Kimberly Jiracek, and Miss Rita Rische of Bloomington, Minn., will be the bridesmaid. Miss Theresa Sandoz, cousin of the bride-elect, will be flower girl.

Lighting the chancel candles will be Mrs. David Williams and Mrs. C. Michael Weir of Denver, Colo.

Serving Mr. Smith as best man will be Ralph Remmes of Denver, Colo., and the groomsmen will include Thomas Briggs of Cleveland, Ohio, C. Michael Weir and Darrell Schmidt, both of Denver, Colo., and William Goodwin of Durham, N.C. Seating the guests will be James Russell of New York, N.Y., John Vranesic of Denver, Colo., and Ruffin Beckwith of Princeton, N.J. Miss Jiracek's cousin, James Barta, will be the ring bearer.

The popular soon-to-be bride was presented a personal shower on Tuesday afternoon, Aug. 24, when Mrs. W. W. Livengood entertained a group of guests at her home. Assisting hostess was Mrs. Leston Sorrell.

An around-the-clock couples shower was presented to Miss Jiracek and her fiance on Saturday evening, Aug. 21, at the Denver, Colo., home of Mr. and Mrs. C. Michael Weir.

This afternoon, Thursday, Aug. 26, the bride-elect's mother, Mrs. Edward A. Jiracek, will entertain family friends and friends of the soon-to-be bride at a bridal tea to be held at the Jiracek home.

Miss Jiracek and her fiance will share honors on Friday evening, Aug. 27, at a prenuptial dinner for which Mr. Smith's mother will be hostess at the University Club following the wedding rehearsal at the church.

Books—"The Nightmare Decade"

BY CYNTHIA JOHNSON

In the opinion of American journalist and author, Fred J. Cook, the United States ". . . was and remains, to a large degree at least, a society that must have its victims, lest it be compelled to look into the face of truth." This inability on the part of Americans to look reality squarely in the face and admit national shortcomings has, according to Cook, on occasion played directly into the hands of demagogues eager to exploit issues for political or personal advantage.

The twentieth century has witnessed two periods of "witch-hunting," both of which occurred at the conclusion of world wars, and Mr. Cook fears that the name-calling vendetta initiated by Vice-president Spiro Agnew in 1969 was perhaps the prelude to another such period of repression and character assassination.

The similarity between Agnew's tirades against "effete intellectual snobs" and the charges leveled against liberals at an earlier period of history became especially apparent to Mr. Cook while he was working on the manuscript of his recently released book, "The Nightmare Decade: The Life and Times of Senator Joe McCarthy." In the study, Mr. Cook examines the background, tactics and legacy left by the infamous Senator from Wisconsin — an accomplishment which he hopes will enlighten future generations as to the dangers of extremism.

McCarthy's early years are examined briefly — his stint with the U.S. Marine Corps, his introduction into Wisconsin politics, and his eventual election to the U.S. Senate. The lion's share of the book however, is appropriately devoted to the years during which McCarthy held an influential segment of the American populace at bay with his charges of Communist infiltration.

Chronicled in great detail are the events of the early 1950's — the infamous speech in which McCarthy claimed to hold in his hand "a list of 205 that were known to the Secretary of State as being members of the Communist party;" the Senator's farcical performances before the Tydings committee and during the nationally-televised Army-McCarthy hearings; and his ultimate political demise and ignominious official condemnation by his fellow Senators.

The success enjoyed by McCarthy — who is portrayed as a tool of the predominantly Republican "business-press-religious" complex eager to take over after 20 years of Democratic dominance — stemmed from the fact that few dared to oppose him: Democrats and respectable Republicans feared for their political lives, and acquiesced in McCarthy's "Redbaiting." The press comes in for especial criticism for its propensity to play up McCarthy's charges, and its corresponding negligence in failing to print less sensational stories involving the guiltlessness of the Senator's victims.

Although Mr. Cook's study does an adequate job of recreating the events and temper of the early '50's, and although he does make some astute, though not original, observations; his book must be judged less than totally effective. The author's documentation, where provided, is often vague. In addition, a great deal of reliance is placed on mental recollection of what was said or done — a practice which, when used to excess, becomes suspect.

Most of the book's faults, including Mr. Cook's frequently simplistic outlook, derive from the author's virulent bias against his subject. At every juncture, McCarthy is denounced in the most inflammatory of terms. This in itself is not reprehensible. When all of the facts are in, a verdict similar to that offered would probably be rendered by most observers. The weakness results from the fact that one gets the impression Mr. Cook came to his work with these biases already well-established; and that he did little to overcome them. An equally condemnatory and more credible account could have been written by one using a more temperate and unprejudiced approach.

Books—"The Nightmare Decade"

BY CYNTHIA JOHNSON

In the opinion of American journalist and author, Fred J. Cook, the United States ". . . was and remains, to a large degree at least, a society that must have its victims, lest it be compelled to look into the face of truth." This inability on the part of Americans to look reality squarely in the face and admit national shortcomings has, according to Cook, on occasion played directly into the hands of demagogues eager to exploit issues for political or personal advantage.

The twentieth century has witnessed two periods of "witch-hunting," both of which occurred at the conclusion of world wars; and Mr. Cook fears that the name-calling vendetta initiated by Vice-president Spiro Agnew in 1969 was perhaps the prelude to another such period of repression and character assassination.

Abby: don't bet on his not growing older, wiser and resentful

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am a 27-year-old divorcee with three children. I am going with a 22-year-old fellow who wants to marry me. He's a real sweet kid, just back from Viet Nam and he doesn't know what the score is.

I prefer older men, but I've dated several, and the minute I mention marriage, they run like rabbits. I've decided to marry this kid, Abby, and as soon as we're marrie I'd insist that he adopt my children so in case the marriage falls apart he will have to support all of us.

I realize this guy is too young for me, but I am only thinking of my children. Do you think it will work out?

GEORGIA PEACH

DEAR PEACH: Probably not. It's a cold business proposition whereby you are using marria-e to trap a young man into supporting you and your children. He won't be young and immature all his life, and when he realizes that he has been used he will resent you and your children.

I know that life for a young divorcee with three children is no breeze, but your chances for a successful marriage would be far better if you started out with a more mature man who knew what the score was.

DEAR ABBY: I read about that poor woman who had birthed five children from her man, and now he tells her that her body is "repulsive" to him because her bust has fallen and her stomach has stretch marks.

I'm an old trapper, and believe me, I'd never discard a trap that is capable of catching game just because it got a little rusty.

Kindly convey my opinion to this dear lady; the fault is not hers. I opine her man has just run out of bait.

Opening lead —seven of spades.

In the ordinary course of events, declarer will play many hands where it is more dangerous for him to have one particular defender on lead than the other

It follows from this that if declarer has a genuine choice between adopting two different methods of play — one of which avoids the dangerous opponent and the other of which does not — he should choose the method that avoids the player who can do him harm.

Here is a typical example South is in three notrump and West leads a spade. Declarer wins the seven with the nine and observes that he must develop the club suit in an effort to make the contract.

He can play the king at trick two, planning to finesse a club at trick three on the basis that West, who opened the bidding, is likely to have the queen. Or he can play a club to the ace at trick two, planning to lead the jack next and finesse, on the basis that if West wins with the queen he will be unable to do South any injury.

But both methods of play are incorrect and, in the actual case, would fail even though the club finesse through East proved successful. East's four clubs to the queen would turn out to be more than declarer could handle.

However, with proper play, South makes the contract. He can guarantee a favorable outcome by entering dummy with a diamond at trick two and finessing the jack of clubs at trick three. If the finesse loses, he can nevertheless point to nine solid tricks, while if it wins, he simply repeats the finesse at trick four.

Arranging the play so as to avoid the dangerous opponent eventually proves very beneficial.

Leahy Plans To Veto Levy Set By Council

Omaha (AP) — Mayor Eugene Leahy said Wednesday he will veto the 1972 mill levy set by the City Council which is 1.5 mills below his proposal.

Leahy said he will veto the 24.1 mill levy unless the council meets in special session and raises it. He said he would resist any cut of more than one mill.

If the council doesn't act he will move for a special meeting under his charter powers, he said, and if the reduction isn't modified he will ask the County Board of Equalization to reschedule its Monday meeting to Wednesday to permit action. It would take five votes to override the mayor's veto.

Council President H. F. Jacobberger said he is "perfectly willing to have the special session to discuss the matter completely" with Leahy.

If the council approved levy stands, Omahans would have a property tax of 96.01 mills or $96.01 per $1,000 of assessed valuation. This year's levy is 93.33 mills, which is the total of levies assessed by the city, county, Omaha School District, Educational Service Unit No. 3 the Metropolitan Utilities District for fire hydrants and the city-county building commission.

The budget proposed by Leahy, $62,552,063 would be financed with a levy of 25.6 mills. The council-approved budget was $881,863 higher although it would be financed by a lower tax levy.

'Dry Run' Raft Regatta Planned

Omaha (AP) — A "dry run" for the Great Missouri River Raft Regatta will be held Saturday near Omaha, regatta spokesman H. J. Katzenberger said.

Some contestants will paddle on the river from the Surfside North Marina four miles north of the Mormon Bridge to the bridge, he said.

The regatta will be Sept. 5-6 from Sioux City to Omaha. About 60 teams from Nebraska, Iowa and South Dakota are expected to compete, Katzenberger said.

Lightning Damages Power Plant Near Brady

Brady (AP) — A lightning bolt struck at or near the Central Nebraska Public Power and Irrigation District's Jeffery hydroelectric plant near here, damaging the No. 2 unit and creating the possibility of a substantial lowering of Johnson Lake.

"The windings of the unit were damaged and this means it will be at least 30 days before we can get it back on the line, thus the water flow through the plant will be reduced by approximately 1,100 cubic feet per second," Ed Hamilton, Central's chief electrical engineer, said.

Hamilton said this means less water will be able to get to Johnson Lake and continued dry weather could result in an above normal draw on the popular recreation area as irrigation demands remain high.

A good rain could change the picture by reducing irrigation needs he said.

In July, Central's directors authorized a contract to replace the windings of one unit at the Johnson No. 1 plant. These windings now will be installed instead at Jeffery, following expected delivery next week, Hamilton said.

Paulsen Named Postal Service Field Manager

Chicago (UPI) — E. L. Paulsen, 44, of Norfolk, Neb., was appointed a U.S. postal service field manager at Omaha.

It was one of 21 such appointments announced for the 13-state central region which is headquartered here.

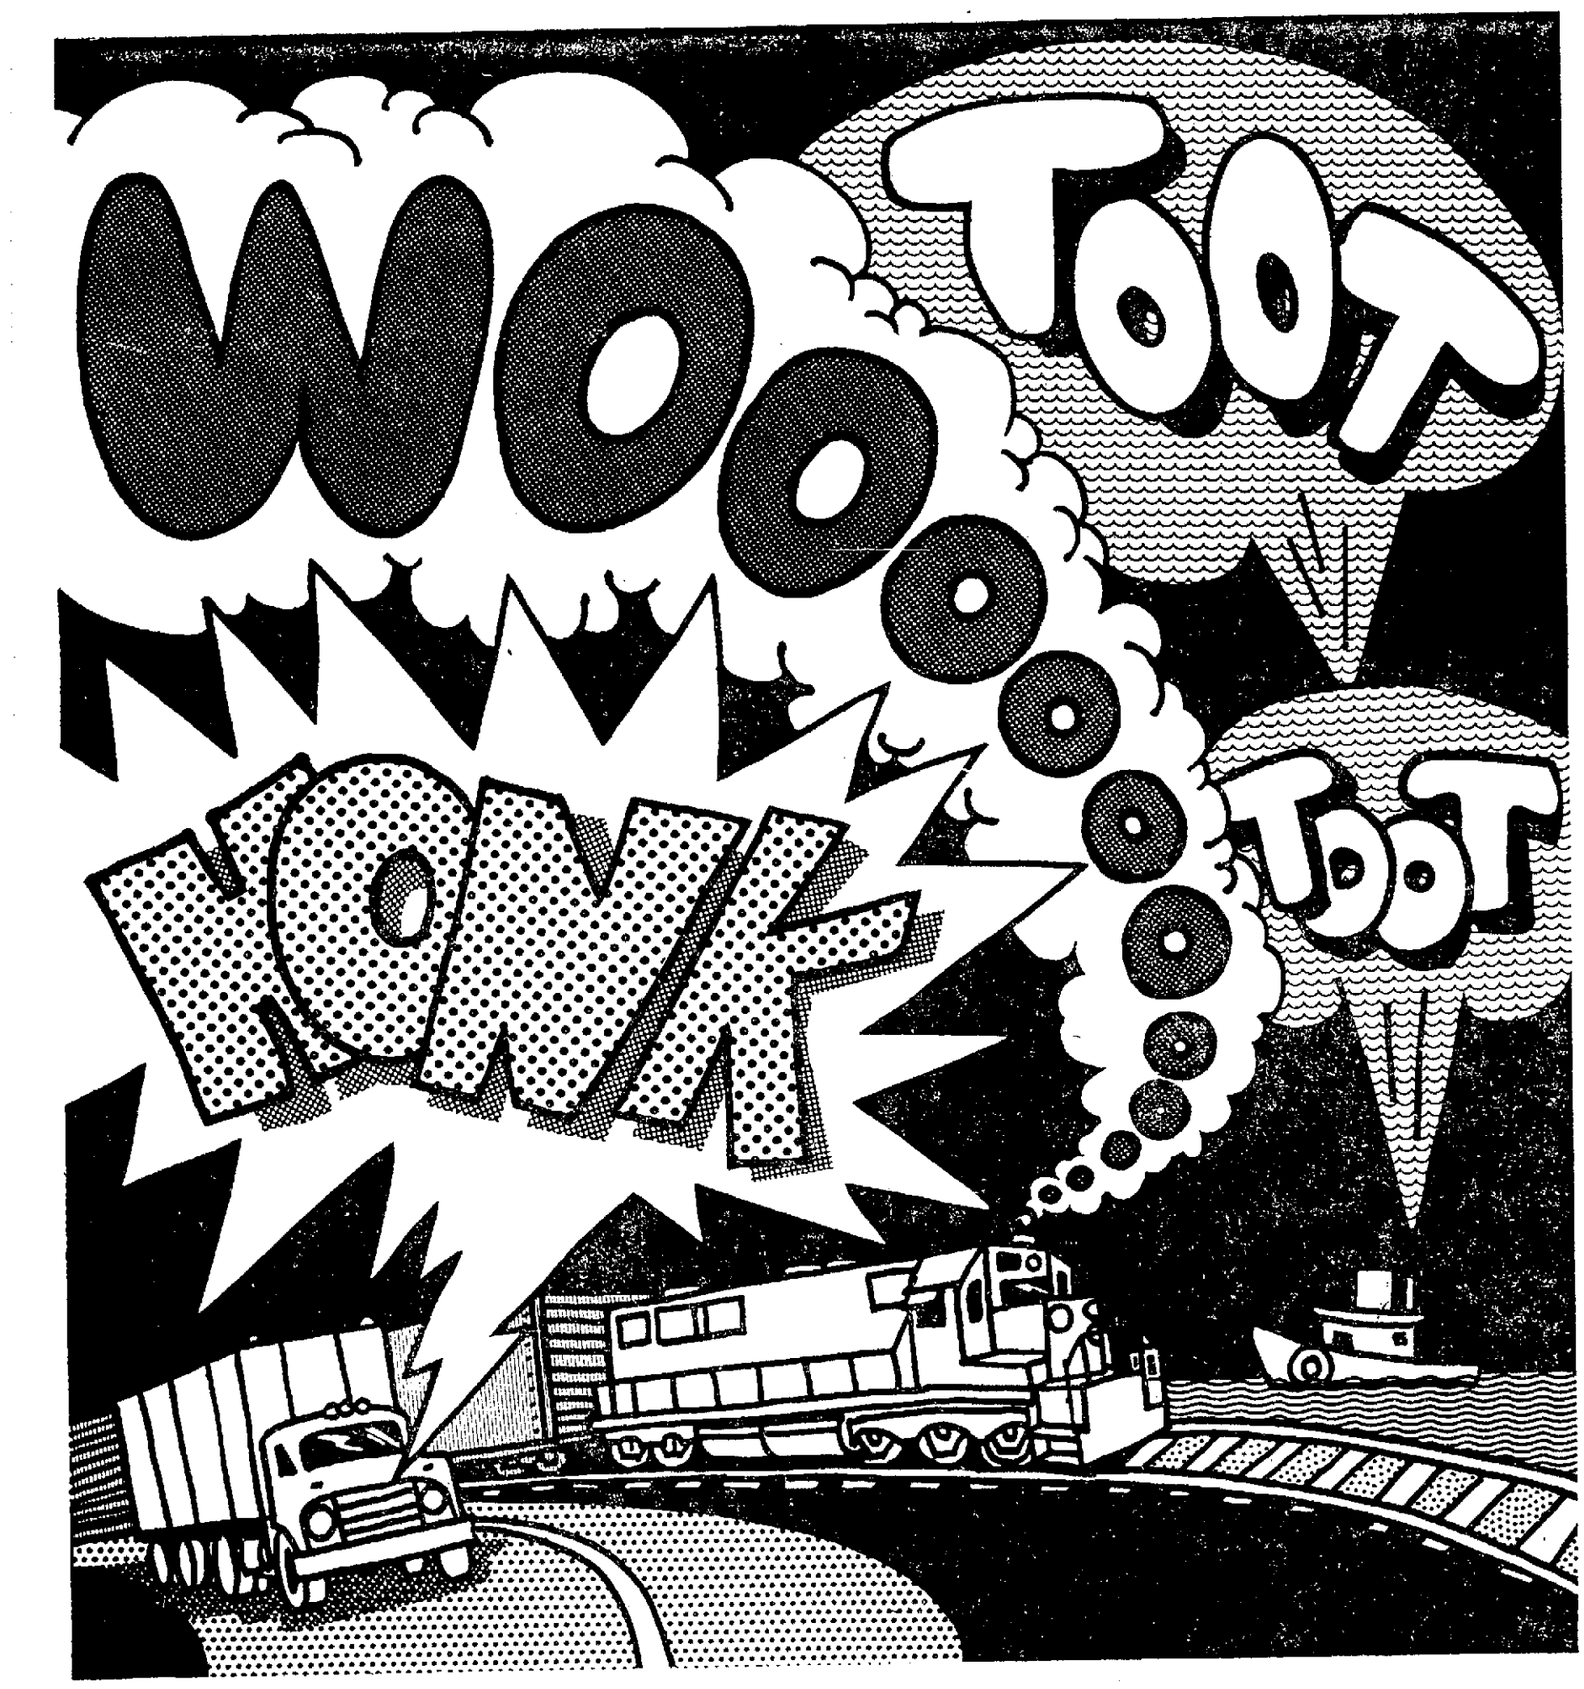
The appointments were part of a revamping of the postal management structure.

Paulsen, who has been a postal service office at Norfolk since 1970, will have a district which covers the state of Nebraska and the Council Bluffs, Iowa, area. His office will have responsibility for 641 post offices, including 12 sectional center facilities.

Paulsen is a native of Salina, Kan. He entered postal service in 1947.

Mrs. Heydman Tabbed

Omaha (UPI) — Mrs. Abby M. Heydman, 28-year-old Des Moines, Iowa, native, has been named director of the Creighton University nursing program. She joined the Creighton nursing faculty in 1969.



THEY'RE NOT JUST BLOWING THEIR OWN HORNS ANYMORE.

The railroads, trucks and water carriers of America are beginning to speak with one voice these days. Because they have a lot in common these days. (You could say they're all in the same boat.)

Freight transportation in America could be in serious trouble. Unless something is done now, we just won't have the kind of transportation system we'll be needing tomorrow. That's the alarm being sounded by the three big haulers of America's goods.

But what does this have to do with you? If transportation fails, the whole economy spins its wheels. And we all end up paying, in higher prices for everything we buy. Whether we're a manufacturer in the market for raw materials. Or a housewife in the market for a head of lettuce.

The problem in a nutshell is this: Over the next 15 years, the volume of freight transportation will double. But because revenues aren't keeping up with rapidly rising costs, America's surface transportation companies can't pay for the needed modernization and expansion of plant and equipment.

If they are going to go on delivering the goods for you—goods you want and need, at prices you can afford—something has to happen. Government policies have to be geared to present and future realities.

How to get them in gear? One very good way would be the remedies called for in the proposed Surface Transportation Act of 1971, recently introduced by Senator Vance Hartke (as S-2362) and Representative Brock Adams (as HR-10146).

The Association of American Railroads, The American Trucking Associations and The Water Transport Association support these remedies. They include: A finance agency to provide loans and guarantees for improvements in transportation services required by the public. Updating regulatory laws in certain areas. More freedom to abandon unprofitable routes. Stepping up the elimination of dangerous highway grade crossings.

There are other proposals. They all add up to this: A plan for the balanced, workable transportation system of the future. Railroads need it. Trucks need it. Water carriers need it. America needs it. Now.

Leahy Plans To Veto Levy Set By Council

Omaha (AP) — Mayor Eugene Leahy said Wednesday he will veto the 1972 mill levy set by the City Council which is 1.5 mills below his proposal.

Leahy said he will veto the 24.1 mill levy unless the council meets in special session and raises it. He said he would resist any cut of more than one mill.

If the council doesn't act he will move for a special meeting under his charter powers, he said, and if the reduction isn't modified he will ask the County Board of Equalization to reschedule its Monday meeting to Wednesday to permit action. It would take five votes to override the mayor's veto.

Council President H. F. Jacobberger said he is "perfectly willing to have the special session to discuss the matter completely" with Leahy.

If the council approved levy stands, Omahans would have a property tax of 96.01 mills or $96.01 per $1,000 of assessed valuation. This year's levy is 93.33 mills, which is the total of levies assessed by the city, county, Omaha School District, Educational Service Unit No. 3 the Metropolitan Utilities District for fire hydrants and the city-county building commission.

The budget proposed by Leahy, $62,552,063 would be financed with a levy of 25.6 mills. The council-approved budget was $881,863 higher although it would be financed by a lower tax levy.

'Dry Run' Raft Regatta Planned

Omaha % — A "dry run" for the Great Missouri River Raft Regatta will be held Saturday near Omaha, regatta spokesman H. J. Katzenberger said.

Some contestants will paddle on the river from the Surfside North Marina four miles north of the Mormon Bridge to the bridge, he said.

The regatta will be Sept. 5-6 from Sioux City to Omaha. About 60 teams from Nebraska, Iowa and South Dakota are expected to compete, Katzenberger said.

Lightning Damages Power Plant Near Brady

Brady (AP) — A lightning bolt struck at or near the Central Nebraska Public Power and Irrigation District's Jeffery hydroelectric plant near here, damaging the No. 2 unit and creating the possibility of a substantial lowering of Johnson Lake.

"The windings of the unit were damaged and this means it will be at least 30 days before we can get it back on the line, thus the water flow through the plant will be reduced by approximately 1,100 cubic feet per second," Ed Hamilton, Central's chief electrical engineer, said.

Hamilton said this means less water will be able to get to Johnson Lake and continued dry weather could result in an above normal draw on the popular recreation area as irrigation demands remain high.

A good rain could change the picture by reducing irrigation needs he said.

In July, Central's directors authorized a contract to replace the windings of one unit at the Johnson No. 1 plant. These windings now will be installed instead at Jeffery, following expected delivery next week, Hamilton said.

Paulsen Named Postal Service Field Manager

Chicago (UPI) — E. L. Paulsen, 44, of Norfolk, Neb., was appointed a U.S. postal service field manager at Omaha.

It was one of 21 such appointments announced for the 13-state central region which is headquartered here.

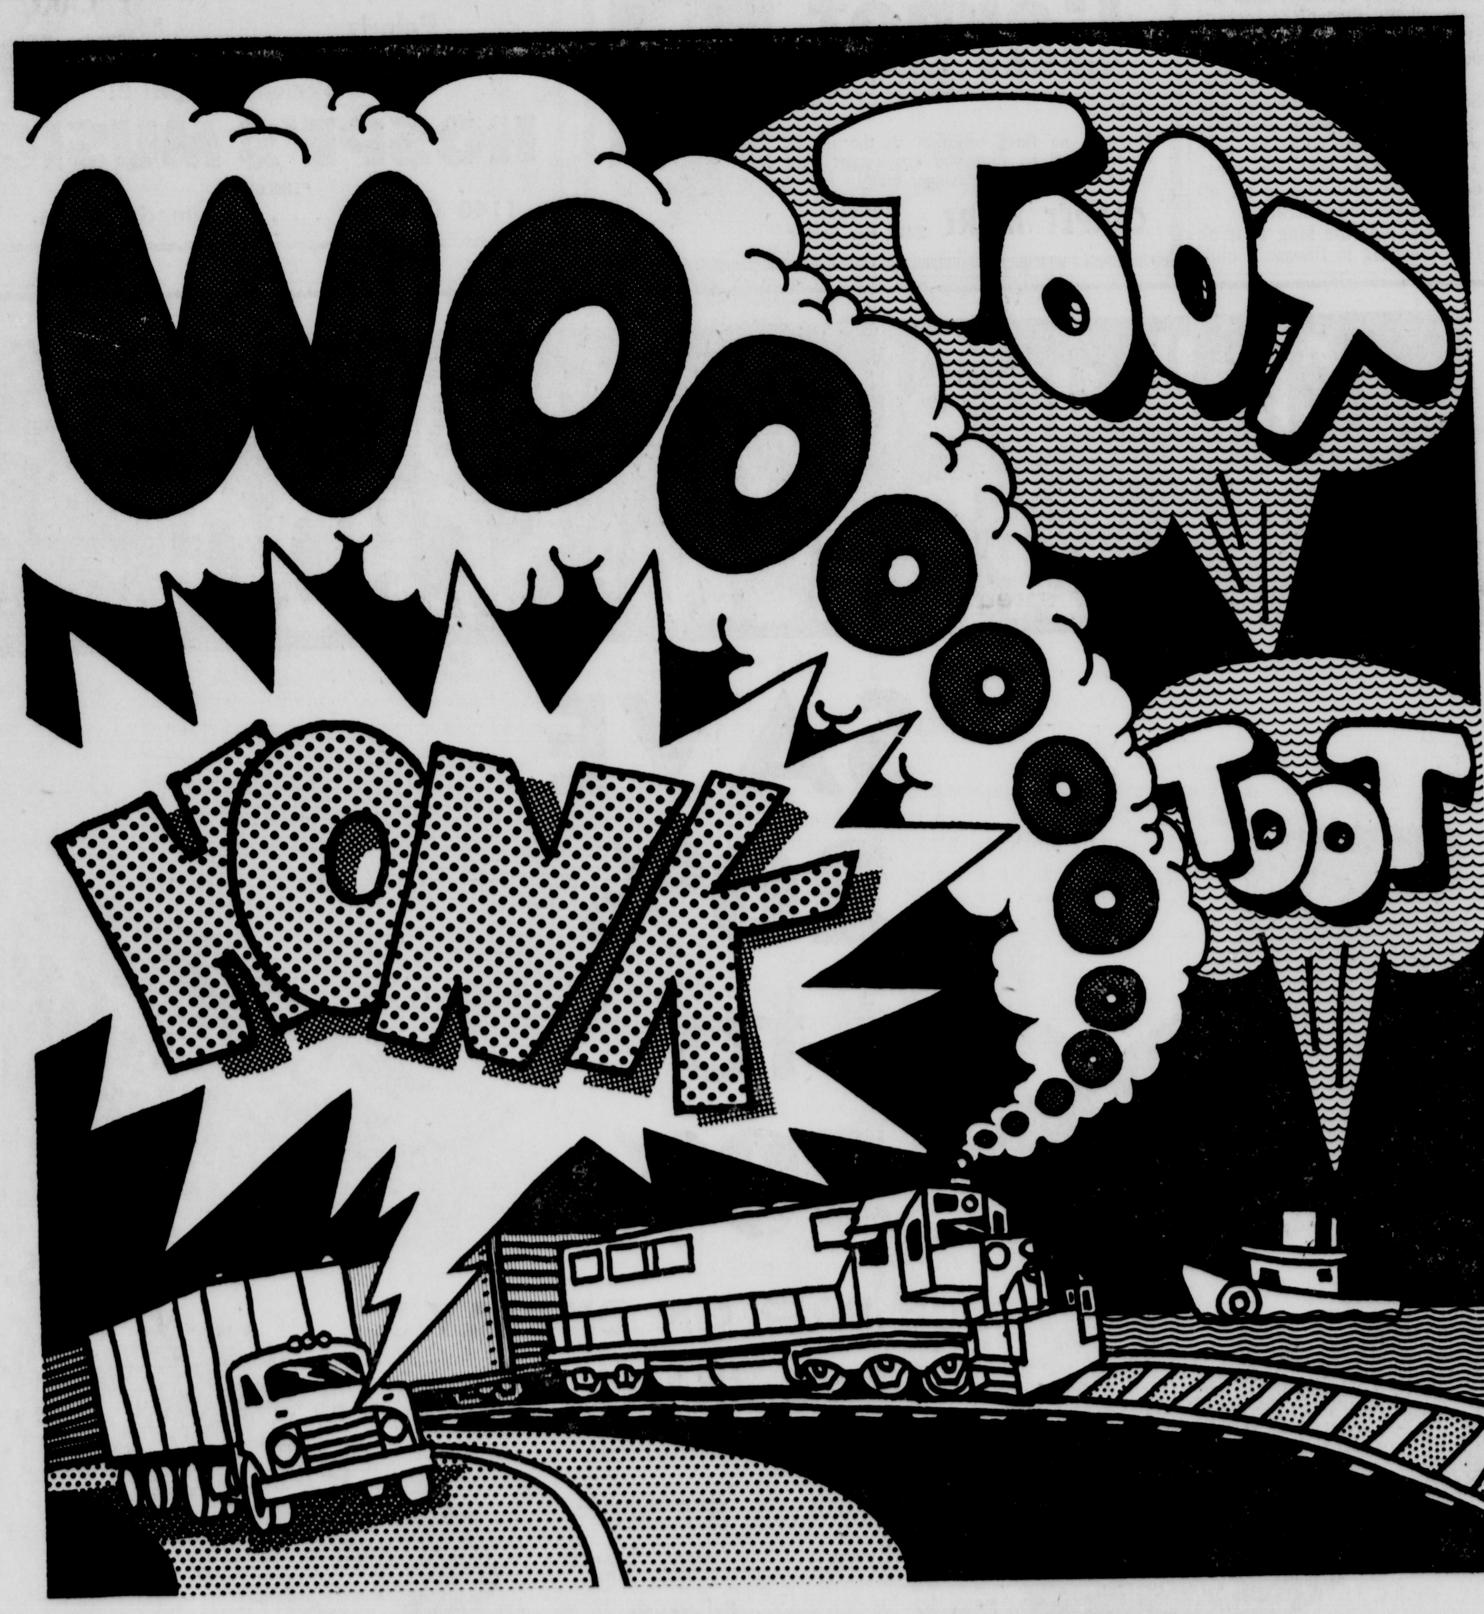
The appointments were part of a revamping of the postal management structure.

Paulsen, who has been a postal service office at Norfolk since 1970, will have a district which covers the state of Nebraska and the Council Bluffs, Iowa, area. His office will have responsibility for 641 post offices, including 12 sectional center facilities.

Paulsen is a native of Salina, Kan. He entered postal service in 1947.

Mrs. Heydman Tabbed

Omaha (UPI) — Mrs. Abby M. Heydman, 28-year-old Des Moines, Iowa, native, has been named director of the Creighton University nursing program. She joined the Creighton nursing faculty in 1969.



THEY'RE NOT JUST BLOWING THEIR OWN HORNS ANYMORE.

The railroads, trucks and water carriers of America are beginning to speak with one voice these days. Because they have a lot in common these days. (You could say they're all in the same boat.)

Freight transportation in America could be in serious trouble. Unless something is done now, we just won't have the kind of transportation system we'll be needing tomorrow. That's the alarm being sounded by the three big haulers of America's goods.

But what does this have to do with you? If transportation fails, the whole economy spins its wheels. And we all end up paying, in higher prices for everything we buy. Whether we're a manufacturer in the market for raw materials. Or a housewife in the market for a head of lettuce.

The problem in a nutshell is this: Over the next 15 years, the volume of freight transportation will double. But because revenues aren't keeping up with rapidly rising costs, America's surface transportation companies can't pay for the needed modernization and expansion of plant and equipment.

91 Egyptians Begin Trial In Revolutionary Court

Cairo (UPI)—The trial of the alleged ringleaders of a lot to overthrow President Anwar Sadat, including ex-vice president Aly Sabry, opened before a revolutionary court here Wednesday but adjourned after one hour to give defense lawyers time to read the state's 10,000-page indictment.

A total of 91 Egyptians have been charged with high reason in connection with the alleged conspiracy. They could face the death penalty if convicted.

In the noisy, hot, one-hour session, 12 main defendants pleaded innocent to involvement in the plot.

Under the glare of television lights, defense attorneys protested that the three-man court set up by presidential decree was unconstitutional. But Court President Hafez Badawi, who is speaker of the National Assembly, rejected their plea that the court should be dissolved.

One lawyer, who did not give his name, said afterwards he would continue to protest the court's status when it reconvenes Sept. 4.

At one stage, as television cameramen wandered about freely taking close-ups, as many as 35 or 40 attorneys were on their feet at once.

Protesting a statement by Prosecutor-General Mustafa Abu Zaid that the defendants could receive justice before the court, they shouted "Don't teach us law!"

Defendants, newsmen, court officers, lawyers and spectators perspired profusely under the glare of the lights despite the use of fans and a portable aircraft air-conditioning unit.

The court whose other two members are Mohammed Badawi Hammoudah, head of the supreme court, and Mohammed Hassan Tihami, adviser to the president, was set up under a decree from Sadat specially to hear the treason case.

The defense lawyers argued the formation of special courts was denied under the March 30, 1968, charter approved by the late president Gamal Abdel Nasser.

Each pleaded innocent as the charges were read by an assistant prosecutor. Six different defense attorneys then rose and separately asked for time to read the massive government document outlining the case, which they saw for the first time Tuesday.

Solutions Difficult To Find, Mayor Tells Housing Panel

By TOM EKVALL
Star Staff Writer

The Mayor's Committee on Housing held its inaugural meeting Wednesday — focusing its sights on long range improvement of Lincoln's housing situation.

Stressed at the meeting was the need for cooperation and coordination in solving local housing problems.

Mayor Sam Schwartzkopf told the group "it is easy to throw brickbats, but difficult to come up with solutions."

'The First Step'

"The first step in getting the problems solved is to get around the table."

City Housing Administrator Carl Kopines, who the mayor said would serve as coordinator for the group, told committee members to keep in mind the ultimate goal of the committee is "preserving the integrity of the neighborhoods" as desirable places to live.

Kopines said bad housing in the city is interspersed throughout all neighborhoods and not concentrated in one area.

Kopines said his office, responsible for administering the housing code, has become a middleman between the landlord and the tenant.

"The time consuming aspect of our office is being the clearing house for problems between the landlord and tenant," he said.

'Where Do We Go?'

The question for the group is "Where do we go from here," said Mrs. Jeanne Agee, president of the Lincoln League of Women Voters and a committee member.

"We have an opportunity now to do something," Mrs. Agee said, urging that the group be "people-oriented and not house-oriented."

Bruce Hamilton, director of the Lincoln Legal Aid Society, told the committee he felt low income Lincolnites will be adequately housed when only a subsidy is provided.

Decent housing is not available at a rent the poor can afford, Hamilton said, adding that this problem should be met in part by the city government.

"The low income are not going to go away," Hamilton said.

Seeks Action

Mrs. Bea Richmond, representing City-Wide Tenants Association on the committee, said something should be done about interim housing.

Kenneth King, chairman of the Lincoln Housing Authority, said one of the first tasks for the committee to decide is what shall be done to house university students.

King said the Housing Authority's policy of assisting students in finding and financing lodging was not begun at the will of the Housing Authority, but because local citizens urged the group to do so five years ago.

King said students housed under the Housing Authority's leased housing program live in units too small for a low income family with children.

One problem cited during the meeting was the high standard required of houses that qualify in the Housing Authority program. The question posed was whether the standard could be lowered and still provide a family with a decent place to live.

Dog Race Betting Drive Is Under Way

An initiative petition drive for a constitutional amendment legalizing dog races in Nebraska was certified Wednesday by Secretary of State Allen J. Beermann.

The amendment would allow a pari-mutuel betting arrangement on dogs similar to existing horse racing provisions.

Merle Bussard, secretary of the Nebraska Greyhound Breeders Association, which has approximately 50 members, and supporters hope to get enough signatures to put the proposed amendment on the Nov. 7, 1972, general election ballot.

Two Requirements

Before July 6, 1972, the supporters must meet two requirements. They must have 46,162 registered voters' signatures and have 5% of the total vote in any 38 counties for governor in the 1970 general election.

Bussard said that after the defeat of LB915 in the last session of the Legislature which would have legalized dog racing, Sens. George Syas and Wally Barnett told him the initiative petition would be his best chance.

"We got horse-racing and bingo through an initiative petition drive, so I don't think we should have any trouble getting twice the number needed," Bussard said.

Nine states currently allow dog races, Colorado and South Dakota being the two nearest Nebraska. A similar initiative petition drive for both dog and horse racing is currently going on in Missouri.

Tax Take Cited

Commenting on the state's need for revenue, Bussard said, "South Dakota taxes the betting at a 4% and last year got $1.5 million from dog racing. Colorado received about $2 million last year in revenue from it."

Bussard said the reason the horse racing operators oppose the attempts to get dog racing in Nebraska is that it outdraws horse races 4 to 1 in states which have both.

Advantages Seen

"Dog races will be more popular because you don't have a lot of the disadvantages of horse racing in Nebraska.

"First, they run at the wrong time of the day when most people are working. Secondly, outside of Ak-Sar-Ben there are no nice tracks in the state. The last two reasons are that there are more betting forms and consequently more money and that you don't have the long wait between races."

Bussard said, "People have been clamoring for dog racing for quite a few years, and I think they will now have their opportunity to voice their support."

No location has been suggested for the dog races, Bussard said. This would be contingent on passage.

Dalrymple Doesn't Believe Libraries To Open On Time

Library Director Charles Dalrymple expressed doubt Wednesday that the two new branch libraries would be able to open Sept. 1 as originally planned.

Dalrymple cited delays by contractors as the reason. He said he hoped service could be provided by the middle of September.

He told the Lincoln Library Board contractors have been told that those whose work would not be completed or substantially completed by Friday are to meet with him on Saturday "to iron the differences."

Dalrymple went over with the board areas where work still remains to be done.

The board decided to hold up decisions on the disposition of facilities at the libraries to close until after City Atty. Dick Wood can meet wth the board to review procedures.

Board members also voted to wait six months to decide on the library service for the Clinton area and requested the staff to study the library service use situation there during the interim period.

Board Chairman Jack Hart said he recommended that library service be continued at the present Northeast Library at 27th and Orchard rather than provide service at another place in the area.

Hart said he did not advise disposing of the library building now only to reopen at another facility.

"This is not the best time to sell," he said, referring to the street construction on 27th.

The board also adopted a change of hours for city libraries recommended by Dalrymple.

On Fridays, all libraries will close at 6 p.m. instead of 9 p.m.

Hours at the branch libraries will be extended to include the hours of noon to 2 p.m. Monday through Saturday. The new hours are 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Thursday, 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Friday and Saturday and 1:30 to 5:30 pm. on Sunday.

Cengas Rate Drop Passed To Customers

Lincoln customers of Cengas, the natural gas division of Central Telephone & Utilities Corp., will be paying less for natural gas from now on.

In a final order, the Federal Power Commission granted Northern Natural Gas a rate lower than that in effect before the order. Northern Natural Gas is the pipeline supplier for Cengas.

Because of the reduction, Cengas customers in Lincoln and 49 other Nebraska and South Dakota communities will see a cost decrease beginning with meter readings made July 27 and after.

The reduction is retroactive and will appear as credit on later consumer billings.

A rate increase application is pending, but commission action on it has been suspended until Nov. 12 because of the presidential price freeze.

3 Bodies Recovered

Chamonix, France (UPI) — Rescue teams brought down the bodies of three of five unidentified climbers killed in falls on the Mont Blanc Range Monday.

Holmquist Warns Against Making Snap Judgment

Sen. C. W. Holmquist of Oakland Wednesday said senators should not make public statements about nuclear power plant problems "until we have a chance to study the situation, talk to the people involved and visit the plants."

Holmquist is chairman of the Legislature's Public Works Committee and vice chairman of the study committee on public power.

"The area of nuclear power is highly technical, particularly as it relates to the environment, and should not be subject to casual remarks," he said.

Nuclear plants are being constructed near Fort Calhoun and Brownville.

"I think the study committee should tour the sites and receive a thorough briefing from power officials before commenting on their situation," Holmquist said.

Dobson Brothers Apparent Winner In Roadway Bid

Dobson Brothers Construction Co. Wednesday was the apparent low bidder for roadway improvements in Pioneers Park.

The construction company had bid $47,151 as compared to a bid of $47,252 submitted by Pioneer Paving Co.

Pioneer Paving, though, submitted the apparent low bid for roadway and parking lot improvements at the park with a bid of $52,706. Dobson Brothers had bid $53,920.

On a repaving district in 70th St. north of Fletcher, Pioneer Paving submitted the apparent low bid of $59,384.

The apparent low bidder for installation of area lighting in Cooper, Antelope and Havelock Parks was OK Electric with a bid of $24,667.

Solutions Difficult To Find, Mayor Tells Housing Panel

By TOM EKVALL
Star Staff Writer

The Mayor's Committee on Housing held its inaugural meeting Wednesday — focusing its sights on long range improvement of Lincoln's housing situation.

Stressed at the meeting was the need for cooperation and coordination in solving local housing problems.

Mayor Sam Schwartzkopf told the group "it is easy to throw brickbats, but difficult to come up with solutions."

'The First Step'

"The first step in getting the problems solved is to get around the table."

City Housing Administrator Carl Kopines, who the mayor said would serve as coordinator for the group, told committee members to keep in mind the ultimate goal of the committee is "preserving the integrity of the neighborhoods" as desirable places to live.

Kopines said bad housing in the city is interspersed throughout all neighborhoods and not concentrated in one area.

Kopines said his office, responsible for administering the housing code, has become a middleman between the landlord and the tenant.

"The time consuming aspect of our office is being the clearing house for problems between the landlord and tenant," he said.

'Where Do We Go?'

The question for the group is "Where do we go from here," said Mrs. Jeanne Agee, president of the Lincoln League of Women Voters and a committee member.

"We have an opportunity now to do something," Mrs. Agee said, urging that the group be "people-oriented and not house-oriented."

Bruce Hamilton, director of the Lincoln Legal Aid Society, told the committee he felt low income Lincolnites will be adequately housed when only a subsidy is provided.

Decent housing is not available at a rent the poor can afford, Hamilton said, adding that this problem should be met in part by the city government.

"The low income are not going to go away," Hamilton said.

Seeks Action

Mrs. Bea Richmond, representing City-Wide Tenants Association on the committee, said something should be done about interim housing.

Kenneth King, chairman of the Lincoln Housing Authority, said one of the first tasks for the committee to decide is what shall be done to house university students.

King said the Housing Authority's policy of assisting students in finding and financing lodging was not begun at the will of the Housing Authority, but because local citizens urged the group to do so five years ago.

King said students housed under the Housing Authority's leased housing program live in units too small for a low income family with children.

One problem cited during the meeting was the high standard required of houses that qualify in the Housing Authority program. The question posed was whether the standard could be lowered and still provide a family with a decent place to live.

Dog Race Betting Drive Is Under Way

An initiative petition drive for a constitutional amendment legalizing dog races in Nebraska was certified Wednesday by Secretary of State Allen J. Beermann.

The amendment would allow a pari-mutuel betting arrangement on dogs similar to existing horse racing provisions.

Merle Bussard, secretary of the Nebraska Greyhound Breeders Association, which has approximately 50 members, and supporters hope to get enough signatures to put the proposed amendment on the Nov. 7, 1972, general election ballot.

Two Requirements

Before July 6, 1972, the supporters must meet two requirements. They must have 46,162 registered voters' signatures and have 5% of the total vote in any 38 counties for governor in the 1970 general election.

Bussard said that after the defeat of LB915 in the last session of the Legislature which would have legalized dog racing, Sens. George Syas and Wally Barnett told him the initiative petition would be his best chance.

"We got horse-racing and bingo through an initiative petition drive, so I don't think we should have any trouble getting twice the number needed," Bussard said.

Nine states currently allow dog races, Colorado and South Dakota being the two nearest Nebraska. A similar initiative petition drive for both dog and horse racing is currently going on in Missouri.

Tax Take Cited

Commenting on the state's need for revenue, Bussard said, "South Dakota taxes the betting at a 4% and last year got $1.5 million from dog racing. Colorado received about $2 million last year in revenue from it."

Bussard said the reason the horse racing operators oppose the attempts to get dog racing in Nebraska is that it outdraws horse races 4 to 1 in states which have both.

Advantages Seen

"Dog races will be more popular because you don't have a lot of the disadvantages of horse racing in Nebraska.

"First, they run at the wrong time of the day when most people are working. Secondly, outside of Ak-Sar-Ben there are no nice tracks in the state. The last two reasons are that there are more betting forms and consequently more money and that you don't have the long wait between races."

Bussard said, "People have been clamoring for dog racing for quite a few years, and I think they will now have their opportunity to voice their support."

No location has been suggested for the dog races, Bussard said. This would be contingent on passage.

Dalrymple Doesn't Believe Libraries To Open On Time

Library Director Charles Dalrymple expressed doubt Wednesday that the two new branch libraries would be able to open Sept. 1 as originally planned.

Dalrymple cited delays by contractors as the reason. He said he hoped service could be provided by the middle of September.

He told the Lincoln Library Board contractors have been told that those whose work would not be completed or substantially completed by Friday are to meet with him on Saturday "to iron the differences."

Dalrymple went over with the board areas where work still remains to be done.

The board decided to hold up decisions on the disposition of facilities at the libraries to close until after City Atty. Dick Wood can meet wth the board to review procedures.

Board members also voted to wait six months to decide on the library service for the Clinton area and requested the staff to study the library service use situation there during the interim period.

Board Chairman Jack Hart said he recommended that library service be continued at the present Northeast Library at 27th and Orchard rather than provide service at another place in the area.

Hart said he did not advise disposing of the library building now only to reopen at another facility.

"This is not the best time to sell," he said, referring to the street construction on 27th.

The board also adopted a change of hours for city libraries recommended by Dalrymple.

On Fridays, all libraries will close at 6 p.m. instead of 9 p.m.

Hours at the branch libraries will be extended to include the hours of noon to 2 p.m. Monday through Saturday. The new hours are 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Thursday, 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Friday and Saturday and 1:30 to 5:30 pm. on Sunday.

Cengas Rate Drop Passed To Customers

Lincoln customers of Cengas, the natural gas division of Central Telephone & Utilities Corp., will be paying less for natural gas from now on.

In a final order, the Federal Power Commission granted Northern Natural Gas a rate lower than that in effect before the order. Northern Natural Gas is the pipeline supplier for Cengas.

Because of the reduction, Cengas customers in Lincoln and 49 other Nebraska and South Dakota communities will see a cost decrease beginning with meter readings made July 27 and after.

The reduction is retroactive and will appear as credit on later consumer billings.

A rate increase application is pending, but commission action on it has been suspended until Nov. 12 because of the presidential price freeze.

Chamonix, France (UPI) — Rescue teams brought down the bodies of three of five unidentified climbers killed in falls on the Mont Blanc Range Monday.

Holmquist Warns Against Making Snap Judgment

Sen. C. W. Holmquist of Oakland Wednesday said senators should not make public statements about nuclear power plant problems "until we have a chance to study the situation, talk to the people involved and visit the plants."

Holmquist is chairman of the Legislature's Public Works Committee and vice chairman of the study committee on public power.

"The area of nuclear power is highly technical, particularly as it relates to the environment, and should not be subject to casual remarks," he said.

Nuclear plants are being constructed near Fort Calhoun and Brownville.

"I think the study committee should tour the sites and receive a thorough briefing from power officials before commenting on their situation," Holmquist said.

Dobson Brothers Apparent Winner In Roadway Bid

Dobson Brothers Construction Co. Wednesday was the apparent low bidder for roadway improvements in Pioneers Park.

The construction company had bid $47,151 as compared to a bid of $47,252 submitted by Pioneer Paving Co.

Pioneer Paving, though, submitted the apparent low bid for roadway and parking lot improvements at the park with a bid of $52,706. Dobson Brothers had bid $53,920.

On a repaving district in 70th St. north of Fletcher, Pioneer Paving submitted the apparent low bid of $59,384.

The apparent low bidder for installation of area lighting in Cooper, Antelope and Havelock Parks was OK Electric with a bid of $24,667.

Profit Taking Trims Early Large Gains

New York (AP) — Early large gains in stock prices Wednesday were partially eroded by profit-taking pressure. Trading was active.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, after rising 8½ points early in the session, closed ahead only 4.24 at 908.37. Advances on the New York Stock Exchange, led declines by a relatively narrow margin.

The modest size of the advance indicated the rally sparked by President Nixon's economic address 10 days ago had lost some of its steam at least for the moment, analysts said.

They said some profit taking was to be expected in view of the large gains scored by the market in recent sessions. By Wednesday's close, the Dow industrial average had gained some 52 points over an eight-session period.

Gains were posted by drugs, and mail order retail issues. Motors and building materials were lower. All other groups were mixed.

Brokers said they detected a marked preference for blue chip issues over lesser grade stocks.

Big Board turnover dropped to 18.28 million shares from 18.7 million shares Tuesday.

Of the 1,707 issues traded on the Big Board, 842 advanced and 598 declined. New yearly highs were reached by 95 issues and lows by 23.

The most-active Big Board issue was Libby, McNeill & Libby, up ½ to 8¾, on a volume of 491,000 shares. A 450,800-shares block of the issue — the largest of the session — traded on the Big Board at 8½.

The number of blocks of 10,000 shares or more traded on the Big Board rose to 134 from a revised 122 Tuesday.

Market indicators behaved as follows:

The New York Stock Exchange index of some 1,300 common stocks rose 0.04 to 55.46. The American Stock Exchange index was unchanged at 25.24. Standard & Poor's 500-stock index rose .01 to 100.41. The Associated Press 60-stock average was up 1.6. The AP Industrial average was up 2.1, rails were up 2.1, rails were up 1.9 and utilities were off .4.

Of the 1,147 issues traded on the American Stock Exchange, 470 declined, and 427 advanced. Amex volume rose to 4.04 million shares from 3.98 million shares Tuesday.

The most-active Ampex issue was McCulloch Oil, up 3 at 29½ on a volume of 172,200 shares.

Both government and corporate bonds were mainly unchanged.

Profit Taking Trims Early Large Gains

New York (AP) — Early large gains in stock prices Wednesday were partially eroded by profit-taking pressure. Trading was active.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, after rising 8½ points early in the session, closed ahead only 4.24 at 908.37. Advances on the New York Stock Exchange, led declines by a relatively narrow margin.

The modest size of the advance indicated the rally sparked by President Nixon's economic address 10 days ago had lost some of its steam at least for the moment, analysts said.

They said some profit taking was to be expected in view of the large gains scored by the market in recent sessions. By Wednesday's close, the Dow industrial average had gained some 52 points over an eight-session period.

Gains were posted by drugs, and mail order retail issues. Motors and building materials were lower. All other groups were mixed.

Brokers said they detected a marked preference for blue chip issues over lesser grade stocks.

Big Board turnover dropped to 18.28 million shares from 18.7 million shares Tuesday.

Of the 1,707 issues traded on the Big Board, 842 advanced and 598 declined. New yearly highs were reached by 95 issues and lows by 23.

The most-active Big Board issue was Libby, McNeill & Libby, up ½ to 8¾, on a volume of 491,000 shares. A 450,800-shares block of the issue — the largest of the session — traded on the Big Board at 8½.

The number of blocks of 10,000 shares or more traded on the Big Board rose to 134 from a revised 122 Tuesday.

Market indicators behaved as follows:

'Optimistic' Fambrough Labels Depth As Top Jayhawk Problem

Lawrence, Kan. — New Kansas football coach Don Fambrough admits he "doesn't have enough experience as a head coach, yet, to be able to con you guys," so he "had to tell the truth" to Big Eight Skywriters.

And what he told the touring Big Eight writers and broadcasters might serve as a warning to other league coaches and their backers, who might be tending to take the Jayhawks lightly this fall.

The "truth," according to Fambrough, is that he has one offensive platoon and one defensive platoon that "can compete with anyone on our schedule."

But the "truth" also is that beyond those top 22, the Jayhawks have problems.

"I'm not going to pull any punches with you," Fambrough says. "I'm optimistic and if we don't get anyone hurt, we can compete with anyone. But depth is a very critical problem for us."

The Jayhawks have as much front-line experience as anyone in the Big Eight, with lettermen available at every position. But beyond the front line there is little experience.

Defense A Key

In addition to avoiding injuries, another key to the KU season is whether the Jayhawks returning on defense have improved enough to hold foes below the 25.2 points per game they permitted opponents last season.

"Our success is going to depend on our defense," Fambrough agrees. "We're putting a lot of emphasis on it this fall and you can't win without it.

"Our defense must make the most improvement, and I think it will. A great deal of our defensive mistakes last season were a result of inexperience."

Offensively, the Jayhawks have few problems other than that one of a lack of depth.

"Our offense can put points on the board," Fambrough says, confidently, "if our defense can get them the ball."

The Kansas offense put points on the board last season at the rate of 24.5 per game.

Heck Better Than Ever

And the man, who directed that offense last season, quarterback Dan Heck, returns and Fambrough figures he's better than ever as he heads into his second KU season after transferring from a California junior college a year ago.

"Heck is better because he has competition," the KU coach points out. "He's throwing better and he's reading defenses better."

That competition is coming from highly-touted sophomore David Jaynes, who got in only three spring practice sessions before suffering a shoulder separation.

"Jaynes is doing as well as expected," Fambrough says, "But he has the normal problems a sophomore faces, one of them being the reading of defenses.

"But because he's pushing Heck, he's making Heck a better quarterback and if he beats Heck out of the job, he's going to be a heckuva quarterback."

The new Kansas coach also is extremely high on three of Heck's running mates in the backfield — tailbacks Jerome Nelloms and Delvin Williams and fullback Steve Conley.

"They are three of the best backs I've seen," he observes. Conley rushed for 535 yards in 1970 while operating in the shadow of all-Big Eight performer John Riggins while Nelloms was the club's No. 3 rusher as a 1970 sophomore. Williams is a sophomore from Houston, who has run a 9.5 100 and a 21.6 220 in track.

Passing Is Improved

While the KU running game was a strong point last season, Fambrough sees the Jayhawk passing game as the most improved phase of the attack.

"Our throwing is better," he says. "Our receiving is better and we're doing a better job of protecting the passer."

Fambrough says split end Lucius Turner and wingback Mike Cerne "give us speed and good hands at the wide receiving spots. And we've got two good tight ends."

One of the tight end candidates is Bob Bruegging, who came to KU as a quarterback and was shifted to tight end this fall.

Fambrough points to him as an example of the attitude on the KU squad. "We just don't have enough depth to afford to have three quarterbacks and one tight end," he points out.

"And it's sometimes tough to convince a boy, who's been a quarterback where you get all that publicity to move to another position, but Bruegging has gone along with the switch and he's doing a whale of a job."

Fambrough promises, "We'll be an exciting team and if we can be lucky enough to avoid injuries, we have a chance to beat everyone we play."

Shamberg Wins With Change

When results of area tennis tournaments were announced this summer familiar names such as Bill North, Sig Garnett, Roy Colson, Carmen Grant and Nina Eidswick were mentioned.

But once again Debbie Shamberg dominated not only her age group but frequently played against older girls and won. And she won despite changing her grip over the winter.

"Last year I used the 'Western' grip but at the end of last summer, changed to the regular 'shake hands' grip," Debbie explains.

"My dad taught me the change because tennis experts say you can keep improving your game with the regular grip while you reach a peak with the 'Western' grip."

With her new grip Debbie won the Nebraska and Lincoln Closed singles titles for girls 14-years-old and under and sevmeet this summer. But she has a good reason for not winning this summer. But she has a good reason for not winning the Kearney title.

"My left knee was so swollen at Kearney, I cold hardly walk," Debbie says.

Old Injury Causes Trouble

"About two years ago I slipped and fell on a patch of ice. Ever since then my knees will give me problems once in awhile.

"When I was playing at Kearney was one of those times my knees gave me trouble. I also had trouble at Omaha but wore a brace and it helped."

Debbie passed up trying to qualify for the nationals this summer like she did last year to go to Europe.

"I played in Spain and Austria and while in Austria a pro gave me some lessons and they were the same as I received here in America," she recalled. Debbie said she thought passing up the chance of going to the nationals for a trip and opportunity to play in Europe were worth it.

Now the holder of 30-some titles one of Debbie's biggest problems besides occasional knee trouble is finding competition for practice.

Her father, Elmer, who started teaching Debbie tennis when she was five is about the only person available most of the time. "If dad is in practice, I usually can't beat him," Debbie admits.

Plays East Tennis Team Members

"Once in awhile Bill North will send some of his players over and I can get a good game."

North is the tennis coach at Lincoln East in addition to being an outstanding player and he may have future plans for being so nice to Debbie. The future plans would also fulfill an ambition of Debbie's.

She is currently 13 years old and a student at Millard Lefler Junior High but will enter high school soon and this is where Debbie's goal and possibly North's plans lie.

"I'd like to play against the boys and be on the high school tennis team," Debbie says. "Right now girls aren't allowed to play against the boys in high school.

"I'm just hoping by the time I reach high school girls will be able to be on the same team with boys and compete against other boy-girl teams."

Letting girls compete with boys in non-contact sports such as tennis on the high school level is just what the Nebraska Schools Activities Association is contemplating.

However the plan is a few years away, perhaps just enough to let one of best female tennis players in the state ever, Debbie, to compete for first year it's tried. If so, she could easily win most everything and continue her dominance in the sport.

Husker Boss Says Much Work Seen

By VIRGIL PARKER

"It was a pretty sharp workout for the first scrimmage of the fall," University of Nebraska football coach Bob Devaney said after the Big Red had their initial head-banging session Wednesday morning.

"We've been worse in other seasons at the outset," the Husker boss said, but then he tempered the enthusiasm by adding, "I sure wouldn't want to play a game today, however."

Devaney said the scrimmage was "typical", in that there were several outstanding plays by both the offense and defense, but that "neither unit showed enough consistency."

Devaney thought the first offense moved the ball quite well against the second defense, whereas the second unit offense didn't go anywhere against the first defensive group. The two first teams didn't face each other during the initial day of contact.

"Unless we have made a mistake in the evaluation of our personel, that's the way it should be," Devaney explained. "The first offense should move well, while we'd be disappointed if the second group gained much against the Black Shirts (first defense)."

Quarterbacks Van Brownson, Jerry Tagge and Dave Humm all came in for praise. "All three threw the ball pretty well," Devaney said, "although Jerry had one intercepted and Humm had two of them picked off."

Jim Anderson made a sensational diving interception of one Humm aerial. Joe Blahak drew special comment for his grab of another. Bill Kosch made the defensive theft of one Tagge toss.

"The pass protection was pretty good," Devaney noted. "But we didn't generate much of a running game. Of course we passed a greater percentage of the time than we would in normal game conditions."

The failure of the running attack was due to the outstanding play of defensive middle guards Rich Glover and Monte Johnson, Devaney said.

"Our centers couldn't handle them," he explained, "and if we don't block the middle guard the running play just isn't going anywhere."

Brownson opened the scrimmage session with the longest gainer of the day when he hit tight end Jerry List for a 40-yard bomb.

The biggest ground gainer for the first unit came on a Brownson keeper, although the next time he tried the same play, linebacker Bruce Hauge and end John Hyland crunched him simultaneously with a bruising tackle for a loss.

Tagge and Humm alternated with the second group against the Black Shirts.

Tagge hit fullback Bill Olds over the middle for one big gain and was on target to Glen Garson for what would have been another, but the toss was dropped. He wound up his performance with three straight completions on sideline patterns.

Humm suffered his two interceptions when he first took over, but recovered to complete four in a row, mixed around 20 and 11-guard gainers on keeper plays.

Nicklaus Out Of Tournament

. . . UPSETS NAME OF GAME

Pinehurst, N.C. (AP) — Arnold Palmer was the only one of five top-ranked players to survive Wednesday as a wave of upsets washed out some glamor names in the first round of the $200,000 United States Professional Match Play golf championship.

Jack Nicklaus, seeded No. 1 as the leader on the official money list, and South African Gary Player were among the upset victims. They packed their bags and headed home.

Also eliminated from the elite field of 64 were fourth-ranked Miller Barber and young Jerry Heard, No. 5 in the seedings.

Palmer, No. 2 in this head-to-head competition —the first of its kind in the United States since 1957. — took a 68-71 decision from Australian Bruce Devlin and moved into today's second round play.

Nicklaus had a strong 69, three under par on the tough, 6,973-yard Country Club of North Carolina course, but it wasn't even close as Ray Floyd who went five under par on the first five holes and eased home with the day's best round, a 67. He led all the way.

Player went to three extra holes before bowing to Homero Blancas, who birdied the 18th hole to tie the little health food faddist at 71, then won with a par on the third extra hole when Player bogeyed it from a trap.

"I'll bet that's the longest distance anyone ever went to play one round of golf —20,000 miles," Player said. He arrived in this country only Sunday and departed immediately for South Africa.

He said he would not compete on the American tour again this season.

Julius Boros, the 51-year-old National Senior's champ, knocked out Barber 71-75 and Lee Elder took Heard 71-73.

All first-round losers collected $1,250 in this head-to-head competition in which scoring is based on total strokes over 18 holes. The winners, of course, advanced to today's second round.

Another 18-hole round is scheduled Friday, with the quarter-finals and semifinals set for Saturday and an 18-hole final Sunday.

Masters champion Charles Coody eliminated Kermit Zarley with a par on the first extra hole after each shot a 70 on the long, beautifully conditioned layout in the North Carolina sandhill country.

Bobby Nichols, George Archer and Frank Beard all suffered upsets, however. Pete Brown beat Nichols 70-72, DeWitt Weaver eliminated Archer 72-74 and Lou Graham topped Beard 73-76.

The longest match of the day went 22 holes with Bob Smith eliminating Bob Lunn with a birdie on the fourth extra hole. Each had a 70.

"I played two rounds five under par including Tuesday's pro am, I haven't made a bogey yet and I'm catching the next plane," said the disappointed Nicklaus, winner of four titles this season.

He pushed his leading money winner mark to $207,081 for the year, just short of his single-season record of $211,566. Nicklaus said, however, that he may not compete in regular tour events again this season.

"Right now I'm not scheduled for any more," he said. "A lot of it depends on my wife and family. It's possible that I may play in either the Heritage or the Disney — or both of them — but I'm not scheduled for either one right now."

Robinson Bunt Ignites Oriole Drive

. . . SLUGGER'S FIRST SACRIFICE BUNT IN 14 YEARS

By Associated Press

A bunt by a home run slugger is rare in major league baseball. Frank Robinson did it for the first time in 14 years Wednesday night as Baltimore downed the Chicago White Sox 6-3.

Robinson, who has sugged 21 homers this year for the Orioles and 496 in his major league career, laid down his first sacrifice bunt since 1957 after two bases on balls in the sixth inning.

It ignited a four-run burst that broke a 1-1 tie and helped the Orioles win their 11th in their last 14 games. Dave Johnson doubled home two of the four runs and Andy Etchebarren singled in the other two.

Five hits by Roberto Clemente and Willie Stargell's 42nd homer sparked a 21-hit Pittsburgh attack that routed Atlanta 13-6. Joe Torre ripped three straight hits and Ted Simmons whacked a two-run homer as St. Louis whipped Houston 4-1 and took over second place in the National League East.

Tom Haller's three RBI paced Los Angeles over Montreal 4-1 and Kansas City defeated Boston 7-5 for the 12th straight time.

Don Mason's four hits helped San Diego blank Philadelphia 7-0 on Clay Kirby's six-hitter and Jerry Koosman's three-hitter gave the New York Mets a 5-1 triumph over San Francisco.

In other games, Milwaukee tripped Cleveland 10-8, Cincinnati drubbed the Chicago Cubs 9-4 and Detroit defeated Minnesota 6-2 for Mickey Lolich's 21st victory.

Kansas City erased a four-run deficit with a five-run rally in the third and beat the Red Sox behind the strong relief pitching of rookie Lance Clemons.

Lee May drove in five runs four with his 35th and 36th homers, to lead the Reds over the Cubs.

Bobby Murcer drove in three runs with a homer and single and Felipe Alou added a solo shot to lead the New York Yankees to a 4-2 triumph over the Oakland A's.

Frank Howard triggered a four-run Washington rally with a mammoth 506-foot home run in the sixth inning and Toby Harrah finished it with a two-run single as the Senators rallied to defeat the California Angels 5-4.

Two Shooters Left In Running

Vandalia, Ohio (AP) — Two weary shooters remained in contention for the Clay Target Championship of America when shooting ended here Wednesday night.

A record field of 1,765 started off the day and despite rain, which slowed the action, 11 shoot-off by breaking 200 straight targets.

Elgin Gates, of Riviera, Ariz., and Richard Smith, of Newcomerstown, Ohio, tied in the shootoff with 124 each. The two will vie for the championship crown today after the preliminary handicap shooting.

Matzdorf Still Wonders About Ni Chih-Chen

New York (AP)— Who is Ni Chi-Chen?

Did he really high jump 7 feet 6¼ inches? Or is he just a fable concocted by one of Chou En-Lai's propagandists behind Red China's Bamboo Curtain?

Pat Matzdorf would like to know. The soft-spoken University of Wisconsin junior admits he can't be comfortable with his pending world record of 7-6¼ until he knows for sure than another man hasn't jumped as high.

"I'd like to meet the guy," Matzdorf said Wednesday while cuddling his latest honor — a huge silver trophy presented to him as Life Saver of the Month for July.

"I've never even seen a picture of him. I have no idea about his size or his technique. But if it's true that he high-jumped 7 feet, 6¼, I would like a shot at him."

Matzdorf soared to the new height early last month in the U.S.-USSR dual track meet at Berkeley, Calif., shattering by an inch the nine-year-old mark of Russia's Valery Brumel.

Last fall the Chinese claimed a similar feat for Ni Chih-Chen but there was no way to authenticate it. The Red Chinese do not belong to the International Track and Field Federation and refuse to compete in the Olympic Games.

Matzdorf interrupted a honeymoon to accept the award here, given for an outstanding sports feat. He was married last Saturday to pretty, dark-haired Peggy Fiedler, from his home town of Sheyboygen, Wis.

"I think my mark will be bettered-probably next year," Matzdorf said. "Somebody will do 7-7, then 7-8, and so on. They'll keep inching the record on up. Heaven only knows when or where it'll stop."

Stander To Tangle With Ramos

Omaha — Unbeaten heavyweight Ron Stander, "The Bluffs Butcher," will meet Manuel Ramos of Mexico in a ten round rematch tonight at the Civic Auditorium.

The two fighters met for the first time Sept. 17 when the final decision was announced as a draw.

The decision, unpopular with both fighters, is the only blemish on Stander's record. To keep Ramos and his handlers from being upset by "hometown decisions," the Cornhusker Boxing Club will bring in Lew Eskin of New York to referee the bout.

Also on the card will be Claude "Humphrey" McBride of Oklahoma City vs. Sherman Goodwin, Dallas; Lou Bailey, Omaha, vs. Sylvester Dullaire; Morris Jackson vs. Joe Byrd; and Gene Coon vs. Lou Grant.

'Optimistic' Fambrough Labels Depth As Top Jayhawk Problem

Lawrence, Kan. — New Kansas football coach Don Fambrough admits he "doesn't have enough experience as a head coach, yet, to be able to con you guys," so he "had to tell the truth" to Big Eight Skywriters.

And what he told the touring Big Eight writers and broadcasters might serve as a warning to other league coaches and their backers, who might be tending to take the Jayhawks lightly this fall.

The "truth," according to Fambrough, is that he has one offensive platoon and one defensive platoon that "can compete with anyone on our schedule."

But the "truth" also is that beyond those top 22, the Jayhawks have problems.

"I'm not going to pull any punches with you," Fambrough says. "I'm optimistic and if we don't get anyone hurt, we can compete with anyone. But depth is a very critical problem for us."

The Jayhawks have as much front-line experience as anyone in the Big Eight, with lettermen available at every position. But beyond the front line there is little experience.

Defense A Key

In addition to avoiding injuries, another key to the KU season is whether the Jayhawks returning on defense have improved enough to hold foes below the 25.2 points per game they permitted opponents last season.

"Our success is going to depend on our defense," Fambrough agrees. "We're putting a lot of emphasis on it this fall and you can't win without it.

"Our defense must make the most improvement, and I think it will. A great deal of our defensive mistakes last season were a result of inexperience."

Offensively, the Jayhawks have few problems other than that one of a lack of depth.

"Our offense can put points on the board," Fambrough says, confidently, "if our defense can get them the ball."

The Kansas offense put points on the board last season at the rate of 24.5 per game.

Heck Better Than Ever

And the man, who directed that offense last season, quarterback Dan Heck, returns and Fambrough figures he's better than ever as he heads into his second KU season after transferring from a California junior college a year ago.

"Heck is better because he has competition," the KU coach points out. "He's throwing better and he's reading defenses better."

That competition is coming from highly-touted sophomore David Jaynes, who got in only three spring practice sessions before suffering a shoulder separation.

"Jaynes is doing as well as expected," Fambrough says, "But he has the normal problems a sophomore faces, one of them being the reading of defenses.

"But because he's pushing Heck, he's making Heck a better quarterback and if he beats Heck out of the job, he's going to be a heckuva quarterback."

The new Kansas coach also is extremely high on three of Heck's running mates in the backfield — tailbacks Jerome Nelloms and Delvin Williams and fullback Steve Conley.

"They are three of the best backs I've seen," he observes. Conley rushed for 535 yards in 1970 while operating in the shadow of all-Big Eight performer John Riggins while Nelloms was the club's No. 3 rusher as a 1970 sophomore. Williams is a sophomore from Houston, who has run a 9.5 100 and a 21.6 220 in track.

Passing Is Improved

While the KU running game was a strong point last season, Fambrough sees the Jayhawk passing game as the most improved phase of the attack.

"Our throwing is better," he says. "Our receiving is better and we're doing a better job of protecting the passer."

Fambrough says split end Lucius Turner and wingback Mike Cerne "give us speed and good hands at the wide receiving spots. And we've got two good tight ends."

One of the tight end candidates is Bob Bruegging, who came to KU as a quarterback and was shifted to tight end this fall.

Fambrough points to him as an example of the attitude on the KU squad. "We just don't have enough depth to afford to have three quarterbacks and one tight end," he points out.

"And it's sometimes tough to convince a boy, who's been a quarterback where you get all that publicity to move to another position, but Bruegging has gone along with the switch and he's doing a whale of a job."

Fambrough promises, "We'll be an exciting team and if we can be lucky enough to avoid injuries, we have a chance to beat everyone we play."

Shamberg Wins With Change

When results of area tennis tournaments were announced this summer familiar names such as Bill North, Sig Garnett, Roy Colson, Carmen Grant and Nina Eidswick were mentioned.

But once again Debbie Shamberg dominated not only her age group but frequently played against older girls and won. And she won despite changing her grip over the winter.

"Last year I used the 'Western' grip but at the end of last summer, changed to the regular 'shake hands' grip," Debbie explains.

"My dad taught me the change because tennis experts say you can keep improving your game with the regular grip while you reach a peak with the 'Western' grip."

With her new grip Debbie won the Nebraska and Lincoln Closed singles titles for girls 14-years-old and under and sevmeet this summer. But she has a good reason for not winning this summer. But she has a good reason for not winning the Kearney title.

"My left knee was so swollen at Kearney, I cold hardly walk," Debbie says.

Old Injury Causes Trouble

"About two years ago I slipped and fell on a patch of ice. Ever since then my knees will give me problems once in awhile.

"When I was playing at Kearney was one of those times my knees gave me trouble. I also had trouble at Omaha but wore a brace and it helped."

Debbie passed up trying to qualify for the nationals this summer like she did last year to go to Europe.

"I played in Spain and Austria and while in Austria a pro gave me some lessons and they were the same as I received here in America," she recalled. Debbie said she thought passing up the chance of going to the nationals for a trip and opportunity to play in Europe were worth it.

Now the holder of 30-some titles one of Debbie's biggest problems besides occasional knee trouble is finding competition for practice.

Her father, Elmer, who started teaching Debbie tennis when she was five is about the only person available most of the time. "If dad is in practice, I usually can't beat him," Debbie admits.

Plays East Tennis Team Members

"Once in awhile Bill North will send some of his players over and I can get a good game."

North is the tennis coach at Lincoln East in addition to being an outstanding player and he may have future plans for being so nice to Debbie. The future plans would also fulfill an ambition of Debbie's.

She is currently 13 years old and a student at Millard Lefler Junior High but will enter high school soon and this is where Debbie's goal and possibly North's plans lie.

"I'd like to play against the boys and be on the high school tennis team," Debbie says. "Right now girls aren't allowed to play against the boys in high school.

"I'm just hoping by the time I reach high school girls will be able to be on the same team with boys and compete against other boy-girl teams."

Letting girls compete with boys in non-contact sports such as tennis on the high school level is just what the Nebraska Schools Activities Association is contemplating.

However the plan is a few years away, perhaps just enough to let one of best female tennis players in the state ever, Debbie, to compete for first year it's tried. If so, she could easily win most everything and continue her dominance in the sport.

Vandalia, Ohio (AP) — Two weary shooters remained in contention for the Clay Target Championship of America when shooting ended here Wednesday night.

A record field of 1,765 started off the day and despite rain, which slowed the action, 11 shoot-off by breaking 200 straight targets.

Elgin Gates, of Riviera, Ariz., and Richard Smith, of Newcomerstown, Ohio, tied in the shootoff with 124 each. The two will vie for the championship crown today after the preliminary handicap shooting.

Matzdorf Still Wonders About Ni Chih-Chen

New York (AP)— Who is Ni Chi-Chen?

Did he really high jump 7 feet 6¼ inches? Or is he just a fable concocted by one of Chou En-Lai's propagandists behind Red China's Bamboo Curtain?

Pat Matzdorf would like to know. The soft-spoken University of Wisconsin junior admits he can't be comfortable with his pending world record of 7-6¼ until he knows for sure than another man hasn't jumped as high.

"I'd like to meet the guy," Matzdorf said Wednesday while cuddling his latest honor — a huge silver trophy presented to him as Life Saver of the Month for July.

"I've never even seen a picture of him. I have no idea about his size or his technique. But if it's true that he high-jumped 7 feet, 6¼, I would like a shot at him."

Matzdorf soared to the new height early last month in the U.S.-USSR dual track meet at Berkeley, Calif., shattering by an inch the nine-year-old mark of Russia's Valery Brumel.

Last fall the Chinese claimed a similar feat for Ni Chih-Chen but there was no way to authenticate it. The Red Chinese do not belong to the International Track and Field Federation and refuse to compete in the Olympic Games.

Matzdorf interrupted a honeymoon to accept the award here, given for an outstanding sports feat. He was married last Saturday to pretty, dark-haired Peggy Fiedler, from his home town of Sheyboygen, Wis.

"I think my mark will be bettered-probably next year," Matzdorf said. "Somebody will do 7-7, then 7-8, and so on. They'll keep inching the record on up. Heaven only knows when or where it'll stop."

Stander To Tangle With Ramos

Omaha — Unbeaten heavyweight Ron Stander, "The Bluffs Butcher," will meet Manuel Ramos of Mexico in a ten round rematch tonight at the Civic Auditorium.

The two fighters met for the first time Sept. 17 when the final decision was announced as a draw.

The decision, unpopular with both fighters, is the only blemish on Stander's record. To keep Ramos and his handlers from being upset by "hometown decisions," the Cornhusker Boxing Club will bring in Lew Eskin of New York to referee the bout.

Also on the card will be Claude "Humphrey" McBride of Oklahoma City vs. Sherman Goodwin, Dallas; Lou Bailey, Omaha, vs. Sylvester Dullaire; Morris Jackson vs. Joe Byrd; and Gene Coon vs. Lou Grant.

McBreen Establishes 400 Freestyle Record

. . . UNKNOWN DAZZLES AAU CROWD

Houston (AP) — Unheralded Tom McBreen of San Mateo, Calif., outswam a classy field and set a world record of 4:02.1 in the 400-meter freestyle Wednesday night in the finals of the National AAU Swimming Championships.

McBreen, who barely made the finals with a qualifying time of 4:07.752, broke into the lead at the completion of the first lap and moved ahead of the field that included former world record holder Gunnar Larsson of Sweden and American record holder John Kinsella of Hinsdale, Ill.

McBreen's record, which must be approved to be official, eclipsed Larsson's 4:02.6, set in 1970 at Barcelona, Spain.

It was the second world mark set on the opening day of the four-day championships.

Earlier Wednesday Mark Spitz of Santa Clara, Calif., broke his own 55.6 world record in the men's 100-meter butterfly with a 55.1 clocking.

McBreen's coach, Tom Holman, said he changed strategy for the race. He said McBreen usually tried to come from behind to win, but in Wednesday's race McBreen broke for the front and stayed.

Mark Spitz of Santa Clara, Calif. set a world record of 55.01 seconds in the men's 100-meter butterfly.

Spitz owns the listed world record of 55.6 set in 1968 at Long Beach, Calif.

"I just felt great coming into this meet, that's all I can say," Spitz said.

Spitz' closest rival was Gary Hall, swimming for Phillips 66. Hall was timed at 56.51.

Spitz' mark came after world record holder Susie Atwood, former record holder Debbie Meyer and American record holder Mike Stamm were pushed to the limit before making Wednesday night's finals.

Hans Fassnacht of West Germany thrilled the crowd with a 4:04.825 clocking to lead qualifiers into the finals of the men's 400-meter freestyle. The world record is 4:02.6 by Gunner Larsen of Sweden. American record holder John Kinsella of Los Angeles was third in qualifying at 4:07.025.

Miss Atwood, the world record holder in the women's 200-meter backstroke, had only the fourth best time of 2:27.293 in the morning qualifying heats at Glenbrook Park pool.

Donna Marie Gurr drew the favored No. 4 lane after leading all qualifiers with a 2:25.445 clocking. Miss Atwood's world record is 2:21.5, set in 1969 at Louisville.

Stamm, the American record holder in the men's 200-meter backstroke at 2:06.1, barely qualified for the final with a 2:11.440. Charles Campbell of Pasadena, Calif., was the leading qualifier with a 2:08.009.

Brian Job of Santa Clara, Calif., was well off his American record of 1:06.5 in qualifying for the championship finals in the men's 100-meter breaststroke. John Hencken of Santa Clara was the top qualifier at 1:06.953.

Virus Bug Hits Kansas State

Manhattan, Kan. (AP) — The stomach virus bug hit the football training camp at Kansas State with close to 20 players missing practices Wednesday, but Coach Vince Gibson wasn't overly concerned.

"The bad thing is the players are missing a lot of work," said Gibson. "And we're giving a lot of work to guys who aren't going to play for us."

"The thing that has encouraged us is that the kids are trying to play when they're sick. They're fighting to stay in there," he said.

Gibson noted that none of the top 44 Wildcats missed the workouts.

McBreen Establishes 400 Freestyle Record

. . . UNKNOWN DAZZLES AAU CROWD

Houston (AP) — Unheralded Tom McBreen of San Mateo, Calif., outswam a classy field and set a world record of 4:02.1 in the 400-meter freestyle Wednesday night in the finals of the National AAU Swimming Championships.

McBreen, who barely made the finals with a qualifying time of 4:07.752, broke into the lead at the completion of the first lap and moved ahead of the field that included former world record holder Gunnar Larsson of Sweden and American record holder John Kinsella of Hinsdale, Ill.

McBreen's record, which must be approved to be official, eclipsed Larsson's 4:02.6, set in 1970 at Barcelona, Spain.

It was the second world mark set on the opening day of the four-day championships.

Earlier Wednesday Mark Spitz of Santa Clara, Calif., broke his own 55.6 world record in the men's 100-meter butterfly with a 55.1 clocking.

McBreen's coach, Tom Holman, said he changed strategy for the race. He said McBreen usually tried to come from behind to win, but in Wednesday's race McBreen broke for the front and stayed.

Mark Spitz of Santa Clara, Calif. set a world record of 55.01 seconds in the men's 100-meter butterfly.

Spitz owns the listed world record of 55.6 set in 1968 at Long Beach, Calif.

"I just felt great coming into this meet, that's all I can say," Spitz said.

Spitz' closest rival was Gary Hall, swimming for Phillips 66. Hall was timed at 56.51.

Spitz' mark came after world record holder Susie Atwood, former record holder Debbie Meyer and American record holder Mike Stamm were pushed to the limit before making Wednesday night's finals.

Hans Fassnacht of West Germany thrilled the crowd with a 4:04.825 clocking to lead qualifiers into the finals of the men's 400-meter freestyle. The world record is 4:02.6 by Gunner Larsen of Sweden. American record holder John Kinsella of Los Angeles was third in qualifying at 4:07.025.

Miss Atwood, the world record holder in the women's 200-meter backstroke, had only the fourth best time of 2:27.293 in the morning qualifying heats at Glenbrook Park pool.

Donna Marie Gurr drew the favored No. 4 lane after leading all qualifiers with a 2:25.445 clocking. Miss Atwood's world record is 2:21.5, set in 1969 at Louisville.

Stamm, the American record holder in the men's 200-meter backstroke at 2:06.1, barely qualified for the final with a 2:11.440. Charles Campbell of Pasadena, Calif., was the leading qualifier with a 2:08.009.

Brian Job of Santa Clara, Calif., was well off his American record of 1:06.5 in qualifying for the championship finals in the men's 100-meter breaststroke. John Hencken of Santa Clara was the top qualifier at 1:06.953.

South Orange, N.J. (AP) — Marty Riessen of Evanston, Ill., and Clark Graebner of New York City powered their way into the quarter-finals of the $25,000 Eastern Lawn Tennis Championships Wednesday at the Orange Lawn Tennis Club here.

The top-seeded Reissen and second-seeded Graebner became the only remaining seeded players as sisxth-seeded John Alexander of Australia was beaten by Alex Olmedo of Encino, Claif., 6-7, 6-3, 7-6. The other seeds were beaten in earlier rounds.

Graebner beat Frank Froehling of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., 6-2, 7-5.

Virus Bug Hits Kansas State

Manhattan, Kan. (AP) — The stomach virus bug hit the football training camp at Kansas State with close to 20 players missing practices Wednesday, but Coach Vince Gibson wasn't overly concerned.

"The bad thing is the players are missing a lot of work," said Gibson. "And we're giving a lot of work to guys who aren't going to play for us."

"The thing that has encouraged us is that the kids are trying to play when they're sick. They're fighting to stay in there," he said.

Gibson noted that none of the top 44 Wildcats missed the workouts.

Chamber Is Cool To Baseball Idea

. . . MAYOR ASKED OPINION

By BOB SCHREPF
Star Staff Writer

Little enthusiasm was displayed by Lincoln Chamber of Commerce directors Wednesday when they were asked if the city should bid for a minor league baseball franchise.

Mayor Sam Schwartzkopf had requested that the chamber directors' meeting be used as a "sounding board" to test possible interest in bringing baseball back to the Capital City.

In his opinion, said chamber director John O'Neill, "it would be a mistake. Only 50 people a night attend Legion ball and that's about as good a baseball as you can find in the minors."

Other directors were equally as pessimistic.

Mayor Approached

Chamber Executive Vice President John Fraker said that Mayor Schwartzkopf reportedly has been approached by some Lincolnites interested in Lincoln reorganizing for minor league ball.

The Chamber board also heard Pershing Auditorium Manager Ike Hoig defend the auditorium staff's maintenance efforts against criticism by Roller Skating Rink Operators of America officials

"Despite all the publicity about a dirty auditorium and not having long enough hours to drink booze, the RSROA had a terrific meet again this year," Hoig said.

He referred to complaints by some RSROA executive board members about maintenance and the lack of after hours socializing opportunities in Lincoln lodged at the completion of the organization's national skating championships held earlier his summer It was the organization's sixth such event in Lincoln.

"I can't understand" criticism about a dirty audtiorium, Hoig said. There were no complaints from participants or fans, Hoig noted, adding that the auditorium staff "moved everything and power-scrubbed every day."

Contract Question

Complaints about dirt, he said, can be attributed to efforts of the RSROA board to "break their contract with Lincoln."

The RSROA hasn't officially announced where its national competition will be held next year, although Lincoln is apparently still in the running.

In other chamber action, the board of directors recommended that a strong administrative board be created to oversee operations of the Lincoln Transit System, the new name for the city-owned bus service.

The chamber recognizes, the resolution stated, "that the problems of the operation of the public tranist system are distinctive from those of general city government and strongly concurs in the proposal that a permanent transportation board should be established by the City Council to direct the operations.

'Strong Board'

"We urge that the ordinance creating this board should make this a 'strong board' by delegating the responsibility for operations to the board subject to the continuing review of the council and the mayor."

"There has been some argument within city government that the board should serve largely an advisory function.

Chamber directors also:

—Appointed former directors Glenn Yaussi, Walter Nolte, Don Parker, Percy Mays and Tom Pansing to a committee to nominate a slate of new directors to be installed in December.

—Approved a $25,000 loan to Edutek, Inc., to be reimbursed by an already-approved federal grant.

Exon To Receive Medal At Meeting

The Nebraska Association of the Distributive Education Clubs of America will hold its 1971 State Officer Training Conference Aug. 24-25 at the Holiday Inn near the Lincoln airport.

Highlights of the two-day conference include a meeting with Education Commissioner Cecil Stanley and presentation of the 25th anniversary medallion to Gov. J. James Exon

More about Unilateral loss and CROS, or Contralateral Routing of Signals.
In brief here are some of the results of clinical investigation.
(1) Seventeen of 20 subjects favored the use of CROS after a one week trail.
(2) Ability to hear with ease persons talking from their "bad side."
(3) Ability to localize the direction of sound while wearing CROS.
(4) Most users of CROS prefer to wear it on a part-time basis.
It has been found that those with some loss in the good ear derived more benefit from this type of amplification. Those who are troubled in noisy places, but fail to have much trouble in a quiet place, are not good candidates for CROS.
MAICO has worked out something of real help. Call 432-1967 or write me for an appointment at 713 Sharp Bldg., Lincoln, Nebr.

Chamber Is Cool To Baseball Idea

. . . MAYOR ASKED OPINION

By BOB SCHREPF
Star Staff Writer

Little enthusiasm was displayed by Lincoln Chamber of Commerce directors Wednesday when they were asked if the city should bid for a minor league baseball franchise.

Mayor Sam Schwartzkopf had requested that the chamber directors' meeting be used as a "sounding board" to test possible interest in bringing baseball back to the Capital City.

In his opinion, said chamber director John O'Neill, "it would be a mistake. Only 50 people a night attend Legion ball and that's about as good a baseball as you can find in the minors."

Other directors were equally as pessimistic.

Mayor Approached

Chamber Executive Vice President John Fraker said that Mayor Schwartzkopf reportedly has been approached by some Lincolnites interested in Lincoln reorganizing for minor league ball.

The Chamber board also heard Pershing Auditorium Manager Ike Hoig defend the auditorium staff's maintenance efforts against criticism by Roller Skating Rink Operators of America officials.

"Despite all the publicity about a dirty auditorium and not having long enough hours to drink booze, the RSROA had a terrific meet again this year," Hoig said.

He referred to complaints by some RSROA executive board members about maintenance and the lack of after hours socializing opportunities in Lincoln lodged at the completion of the organization's national skating championships held earlier his summer. It was the organization's sixth such event in Lincoln.

"I can't understand" criticism about a dirty audtiorium, Hoig said. There were no complaints from participants or fans, Hoig noted, adding that the auditorium staff "moved everything and power-scrubbed every day."

Contract Question

Complaints about dirt, he said, can be attributed to efforts of the RSROA board to "break their contract with Lincoln."

The RSROA hasn't officially announced where its national competition will be held next year, although Lincoln is apparently still in the running.

In other chamber action, the board of directors recommended that a strong administrative board be created to oversee operations of the Lincoln Transit System, the new name for the city-owned bus service.

The chamber recognizes, the resolution stated, "that the problems of the operation of the public tranist system are distinctive from those of general city government and strongly concurs in the proposal that a permanent transportation board should be established by the City Council to direct the operations.

'Strong Board'

"We urge that the ordinance creating this board should make this a 'strong board' by delegating the responsibility for operations to the board subject to the continuing review of the council and the mayor."

"There has been some argument within city government that the board should serve largely an advisory function.

Chamber directors also:

—Appointed former directors Glenn Yaussi, Walter Nolte, Don Parker, Percy Mays and Tom Pansing to a committee to nominate a slate of new directors to be installed in December.

—Approved a $25,000 loan to Edutek, Inc., to be reimbursed by an already-approved federal grant.

Exon To Receive Medal At Meeting

The Nebraska Association of the Distributive Education Clubs of America will hold its 1971 State Officer Training Conference Aug. 24-25 at the Holiday Inn near the Lincoln airport.

Highlights of the two-day conference include a meeting with Education Commissioner Cecil Stanley and presentation of the 25th anniversary medallion to Gov. J. James Exon.

More about Unilateral loss and CROS, or Contralateral Routing of Signals.
In brief here are some of the results of clinical investigation.
(1) Seventeen of 20 subjects favored the use of CROS after a one week trail.
(2) Ability to hear with ease persons talking from their "bad side."
(3) Ability to localize the direction of sound while wearing CROS.
(4) Most users of CROS prefer to wear it on a part-time basis.
It has been found that those with some loss in the good ear derived more benefit from this type of amplification. Those who are troubled in noisy places, but fail to have much trouble in a quiet place, are not good candidates for CROS.

Yellowstone National Park's Steamboat Geyser, considered the largest in the world, erupts as high as 300 feet

Japanese farmers used $244 million worth of agricultural chemicals last year to fight insects and other pests.

The average Frenchman drinks 32 quarts of bottled water a year.

Kmart FISK TIRE GUARANTEE

All Fisk tires are guaranteed against tread wear-out for the number of months specified on the sales invoice. If the tread is less than 2/32" deep before the end of the specified period of use, Kmart will make an allowance* on the purchase of a new tire proportionate to the number of months remaining in the time guarantee. (Number of months will be computed from date of purchase.)

TREAD LIFE GUARANTEE

If a Fisk tire fails due to defects in workmanship or material or as a result of road hazard (except in cases of abuse or repairable puncture, as determined by Kmart) at any time while 2/32" or more of the original tread remains, Kmart will, at its option, either repair the tire or make an allowance* on the purchase of a new tire proportionate to the amount of original tread remaining.

This guarantee does not apply to truck or commercial use.
